

Legacy

Living Legacy

Legacy describes what we leave behind or pass along - our money, our property, our story - to those who come after. Everyone leaves a legacy, but our motivation matters most. What motivates you to leave a godly legacy?

Discussion Questions

1. What are some words our culture uses to describe your generation? How accurate do you think those words are?
2. During the message, Dave talked about the following “life paradigms” for the last six generations:

Silent Generation (1929–1945): “Be grateful you have a job.”

Baby Boomers (1946–1964): “You owe me.”

Generation X (1965–1982): “Relate to me.”

Millennials (1983–2000): “Life is a cafeteria.”

Homelanders (2001–2018): “I’m coping and hoping.”

Which generation are you in? How well do you think the life paradigm for that generation describes you?

3. Who is someone from a previous generation that invested in you at a young age?
 - a. Who is someone that has invested in you spiritually?
4. Who is someone in the next generation that you need to invest in? What can you do to help that person? How can this group support you?