

Summary

In this sermon, Pastor Chad Sism draws from John 6, the miracle of the feeding of the 5,000, to deliver a powerful message about how God takes what seems small and uses it for extraordinary purposes. Just as a young boy offered his five barley loaves and two small fishes, we are called to surrender what little we have to God, trusting that He will multiply it far beyond what we could imagine. The central theme is simple but profound: little is much when God is in it. The pastor emphasizes that God does not ask us for what we do not have. He asks for what is available. Whether it is a small act of service, a mustard seed of faith, a prayer offered in private, or a simple step of obedience, God delights in small beginnings because He already sees the finished work. Faithfulness in small things, not popularity or impressive resources, is what opens the door to God's multiplication and blessing in our lives.

Intro Prayer

Heavenly Father, we come before You today with grateful hearts, thankful for the gift of Your Word and for the opportunity to gather together in Your name. Lord, just as that young boy offered what little He had and You multiplied it beyond all expectation, we ask that You take this time together and multiply it for Your glory. Open our hearts and our minds to what You want to speak to each one of us today. Remove any distractions, any doubts, and any pride that might keep us from hearing Your voice clearly. We do not come with all the answers, but we come trusting that You are faithful. Lead this discussion, Lord, and let every word spoken point back to You. In Jesus name we pray, amen.

Ice Breaker

What is one small skill, hobby, or talent you have that most people in this group might not know about?

Key Verses

- John 6:9-13
- Luke 16:10
- Zechariah 4:10
- 2 Kings 4:2-6

Questions

- In John 6:9, Andrew points out a boy with five barley loaves and two small fishes and then immediately says, 'but what are they among so many?' Have you ever felt like what you had to offer God was too small to matter? What did that feel like?
- The young boy in this passage did not have to give his lunch to Jesus, but He did. What do you think it takes to willingly surrender something that belongs to you, especially when you are not sure what will happen next?
- Pastor Chad said that God does not ask for what we do not have. He asks for what is available. What do you currently have available, whether it is time, a skill, a relationship, or a resource, that you could place in God's hands?
- Luke 16:10 says, 'He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much.' Can you think of a time when being faithful in a small responsibility prepared you for something greater? What did that season teach you?
- The sermon mentioned that the enemy often tells us we are not good enough or that what we have is not enough. How do you personally fight back against that kind of discouragement, and what scriptures or truths help you most?
- Pastor Chad talked about the importance of having a specific place where you meet with God during the week. Do you have a regular place or time set aside for prayer and Scripture? How has that practice, or the lack of it, affected your walk with God?
- David faced Goliath with only a sling and five smooth stones. The pastor said that others saw a giant while David saw a great God. In your current circumstances, are you more focused on the size of the problem or the greatness of God? What would it look like to shift that perspective?
- The pastor closed by saying that keeping our burdens instead of truly giving them to God brings nothing but torment. Is there something you have said you were giving to God but have quietly taken back? What is one practical step you can take this week to fully surrender it?

Life Application

This week, identify one small thing you have been holding back from God, whether it is a fear, a talent, a burden, or an act of service you have been putting off. Write it down, pray over it, and intentionally place it in God's hands. Then take one small, concrete step of obedience related to it. It does not have to be dramatic or impressive. It just has to be surrendered. Come back to your group next week ready to share what happened when you gave your loaves and fishes to Jesus.

Key Takeaways

- Little is much when God is in it. God specializes in taking what seems small or insignificant and using it for extraordinary purposes, just as He fed 5,000 people from a boy's small lunch.
- God does not ask for what you do not have. He asks for what is available. Every person in the room has something they can offer to God right now.
- Faithfulness in small things matters deeply. Luke 16:10 reminds us that how we handle small responsibilities reveals how God can trust us with greater ones.
- Obedience unlocks multiplication. The miracle did not happen until the boy gave his lunch away. Surrendering what we have to God is the starting point for His blessing and provision.
- Never despise small beginnings. Zechariah 4:10 calls us not to look down on humble starts. Every great work of God began somewhere small, and God already sees the finished picture even when we cannot.

Ending Prayer

Lord, we thank You for this time together and for the truth of Your Word that reminds us You are not looking for the most talented, the most educated, or the most popular. You are looking for willing hearts that will place what they have into Your hands. Like the young boy with the loaves and fishes, help each one of us to stop holding back and to start surrendering. Where we have been discouraged, renew our hope. Where we have been faithless, grow our trust. Where we have been keeping our burdens instead of giving them to You, give us the courage to finally let go. May we leave here today not just inspired, but obedient. And may You take our small offerings and multiply them for Your glory and for the good of those around us. We love You, Lord. In Jesus name, amen.
