This Week's Sermon in Song 🎶

The One Who Thirsted

Verse 1
Beneath a darkened sky He hung
The Holy One, the Father's Son
His strength was gone, His blood poured down
A broken King beneath a crown

The One who spoke the seas to life
Now tasted sorrow, pain and strife
The hands that formed the rivers first
Were lifted there as Jesus said,
"I thirst."

Verse 2
No cry escaped without design
No word was wasted in that time
The prophets spoke, the Scriptures stood
And every promise pointed to the wood

They raised the vinegar to His lips
Another prophecy fulfilled
The sacred Word would not return
Until its purpose had been sealed

Chorus
Because You thirsted, I can drink
From living water deep and free
Because You suffered in my place
I stand forgiven at Your feet

You bore the hunger of my soul
You paid the debt I could not pay
The One who thirsted on the cross

Became the fountain of my grace

Verse 3
I chased the wells that could not last
The empty promises of earth
I drank from things that left me dry
Still searching for what they were worth

But mercy opened up a stream
That never fades and never ends
Your Spirit came and made me new
And called a thirsty soul Your friend

Chorus
Because You thirsted, I can drink
From living water deep and free
Because You suffered in my place
I stand forgiven at Your feet

You bore the hunger of my soul
You paid the debt I could not pay
The One who thirsted on the cross
Became the fountain of my grace

Bridge
Total forgiveness
Mercy without end
Your Spirit living in me
My Savior and my Friend

True transformation
A heart made new
No longer searching
I have found my life in You

Final Chorus
Because You thirsted, I can drink

From living water deep and free
Because You gave Your life for me
I'll never thirst eternally

You turned the darkness into dawn
You turned my mourning into praise
The One who whispered, "I thirst,"
Became the fountain of my grace

Outro
You said, "I thirst…"
So I would never thirst again.
