

LIFE GROUP DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

October 5th

The Mission That Hasn't Changed

Jesus' mission hasn't shifted — we are still called to bear witness that Jesus is King through our words, our lives, and our love.

- Where do you see opportunities in your daily life to reflect Jesus' kingship?
- Where do you feel challenged to do so more intentionally?

Dependent, Not Self-Sufficient

We don't go alone, and we don't go without the Holy Spirit — yet it's easy to drift toward doing ministry or faith in our own strength.

- What are some ways you tend to take spiritual matters into your own hands?
- Key Question: What could it look like for you to slow down and "wait on the Spirit" this week?

The Spirit as a Promise, Not a Standard

The Holy Spirit isn't a benchmark to meet but a promise to enjoy. His presence is a gift, not a performance goal.

- How does that truth reshape your understanding of life with God?
- Key Question: What would it look like to enjoy the Spirit's presence rather than striving to earn it?

Wanderer, Watcher, or Witness?

We may find ourselves in different postures toward God's work — disappointed wanderers, hesitant watchers, or active witnesses.

- Key Question: Which posture best describes you right now?
- Key Question: What might a next step of faith look like in this season?

Saying "Yes" to the Spirit

We were challenged to become a people who practice saying yes to the Holy Spirit — in big and small ways.

- What might saying "yes" to the Spirit look like for you right now?
- Key Question: How can we, as a community, support one another in living this out?
