

“GO DEEPER” QUESTIONS

THE POWER OF LOVE

9/6/26

- The message suggests that becoming more like Jesus may have less to do “In life, it’s what we look for that we tend to find.” Where have you seen this play out in your own life? What do you naturally tend to notice in people—the good, the frustrating, the impressive, the flaws?
- Read Romans 12:1–3. Paul connects being transformed with a change in the way we think. How does comparison distort the way we see ourselves and other people? What would it look like to let God reshape that thinking?
- Read Romans 12:4–8. Paul describes people as different parts of one body, each with unique gifts and purposes. What is something “special” God has put in you that you’ve learned to recognize and embrace? What is something you admire in someone else that is very different from you?
- “If you go looking for something special in people, you will find it.” Who is difficult for you to appreciate right now? Without ignoring their flaws or pretending everything they do is okay, what might change if you intentionally looked for evidence of God’s design and value in them?
- What would it look like to practice this message this week? Identify one person you could intentionally notice, encourage, celebrate, or help grow in the unique way God has made them. What specifically could you do or say?

Key Verse: Romans 12:4-6 Just as our bodies have many parts and each part has a special function, so it is with Christ’s body. We are many parts of one body, and we all belong to each other. In his grace, God has given us different gifts for doing certain things well.
