August Update

July was a good month for our finances, with strong giving and careful spending. However, we are still behind overall for the year, which is why your continued generosity is so important.

With the new school year starting, life is shifting from the slower pace of summer into the busyness of schedules, activities, and commitments. In the middle of all the frenzy, let's remember to stay grounded in faith and continue supporting the ministries that serve our community throughout every season.
