US, Iran reach tentative deal, waiting for Trump's approval, sources say

The United States and Iran reached a tentative agreement on Thursday to extend the shaky ceasefire in the Middle East and reopen the Strait of Hormuz, but President Trump's approval remains pending, according to U.S. sources.

The two sides have struck a deal on a 60-day memorandum of understanding (MOU) to protract the fragile ceasefire, which has been in place since last month, and begin the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, a key waterway that has been effectively choked off by Iran.

Pope Leo Uses First Major Papal Text to Warn About Dangers of AI

Pope Leo XIV has issued the first major theological text of his papacy, warning about the growing power of artificial intelligence and calling for stronger regulation of the technology.

Released Monday, the 42,300-word encyclical "Magnifica Humanitas" marks Pope Leo's most sweeping statement yet on the promise and dangers of AI, a topic he has repeatedly spoken about in the year since his election. Framed as an appeal for the defense of humanity in a rapidly automating world, the text urges governments, corporations, and individuals to slow the rate of technological development and ensure that AI remains subject to ethical and political oversight. He presented the encyclical at the Vatican alongside Christopher Olah, a co-founder of Anthropic, in a symbolic gesture of dialogue between Church leadership and the AI industry.

Trump Suggests Vance’s Anti-Fraud Efforts Could Save Social Security

The president made the comment at a Cabinet meeting on Wednesday.

President Donald Trump said at a Cabinet meeting on Wednesday that Social Security payments could be rescued by a crackdown led by Vice President JD Vance on federal entitlement fraud.

“I think we have a chance to save Social Security without doing anything to it,” Trump said. “We’re going to make our Social Security so strong.”

The government has warned that the trust fund for Social Security and Medicaid will be depleted sometime in the 2030s. Last year, a report from the trustees said that the fund will be unable to pay full benefits beginning in 2034 due to the cost of the benefits for an aging population exceeding payroll tax revenues.

New Hampshire Planet Fitness Bans, Trespasses Woman After She Reports Man in Women's Locker Room

CONCORD, NH - A New Hampshire woman claims her local Planet Fitness cancelled her membership and trespassed her from the premises solely for the act of alerting staff to a male being present in the women's locker room, with the company reportedly citing their nondiscrimination-against-transgenders policy as the reason why.

On April 11th, Judy Walcott ventured to her local Planet Fitness in Concord and was just about to use the restroom located inside of the women's locker room at the gym when she happened upon a "creepy" man seemingly about to use the shower inside the women's locker room.

"He gave me goosebumps. I went to the front desk. I said, 'There's somebody there who's really creepy, and it's freaking me out.' And it was just a kid, you know, I think he was new even, and [the man at the front desk] just said, 'There's nothing I can do about it!'" Walcott revealed to a local ABC affiliate.

According to Walcott, no employee at the facility checked out the situation on the day of the incident following her reported concerns. Days after the initial incident, Walcott said she brought the matter up again while at the Planet Fitness to another employee, except in this instance, the employee reportedly accused her of being "transphobic."

Alleged Prophet rips out a page from a Bible and feeds it to teenage boy during service

According to a report from ChurchLeaders.com, a startling moment unfolded at Rock Church in Parkersburg during a three-day prophetic gathering in February, as prophet Kevin Leal tore a page from the Bible and instructed a teenage boy to consume it. Religious teachings

The incident occurred in the fifth service of the Encounter Conference led by pastors David and Kyong Chisholm. The young man, Ethan — nephew of a prominent church member — drew significant attention when Leal delivered a bold prophecy declaring that Ethan would rise as a successful and generous millionaire for the kingdom of God.

After being handed the microphone, Ethan passionately declared the prophecy aloud: “Make me a kingdom businessman! Make me money so I can give it to the kingdom! Make money for the kingdom through me!”

He described seeing the young man seated at a dinner table with a Bible open to Proverbs. In the vision, Ethan tore out chapters, crumpled them, and ate them one by one.

Chisholm then issued a direct command: “I’m giving you a command. Every day for the next several years in your development, you eat at least one chapter of the Book of Proverbs, the Book of Ecclesiastes, and the Book of Psalms in at least 10 different translations.” He emphasized that Ethan would need the profound wisdom of God to fulfill his calling.

CIA accused of using DNA data to track alien hybrids

DNA surveillance claims: An author alleges the CIA uses backdoor access to consumer DNA databases to identify alien-human hybrids, focusing on 'Nordic' ancestry.

Nordic hybrid narrative: Retired Army 'psychic spy' Lyn Buchanan reportedly described encounters with Nordics living secretly in US mountain towns.

Broader UFO disclosures: The claims coincide with Pentagon UFO file releases and whistleblower testimonies about multiple alien species and recovered craft.

Author Jason Reza Jorjani claims the CIA has a covert programme to search genetic testing databases like 23andMe and Ancestry.com for markers linked to 'Nordic' aliens. He cites retired Army remote viewer Lyn Buchanan, who allegedly encountered Nordics seeking to avoid government detection. Buchanan warned against DNA testing, claiming the government tracks 'unknown unidentifiable' genetic patterns. Both companies have been contacted for comment, with no confirmation of such access provided. Daily Mail

A new batch of Pentagon UFO files released under the Trump administration includes 46 videos of metallic spheres over varied terrains and near military sites. Reports cite over 8,000 orb sightings in the US between 2022 and 2025, with some objects surviving direct missile strikes. Notable incidents include a 'Bugha Sphere' crash in Colombia emitting harmful energy and satellite footage of high-speed orbs evading detection. Daily Mail
