'Evangelicals For Harris' - What You Need To Know

A newly-minted political group hosted a recent "Zoom-style rally," as MSNBC put it, touting evangelical support for Harris. "Evangelicals for Harris has sought to offer a counter-narrative to evangelicals' overwhelming support for Trump," proclaimed The Tennessean, a progressive paper in Nashville.

Is this true? Here are a few facts to know about "Evangelicals for Harris."

The Evangelicals for Harris call attracted modest participation, but scant evidence of a growing movement.

A pledge on the Evangelicals for Harris website to support the Harris-Walz ticket in 2024 has already received over 200,000 signatures. The organization claimed on X that "over 200,000 evangelicals joined an effort called 'Evangelicals for Biden'" in 2020, and "that same group is growing and is throwing its support behind @KamalaHarris."

However, this evidence does not show that a growing number of evangelicals are throwing their support behind Vice President Kamala Harris. So far, the evidence shows that a group of approximately 200,000 evangelicals support Democratic nominees for president, whether President Joe Biden in 2020 or Harris in 2024.

The Evangelicals for Harris event featured 18 speakers plus a moderator, with significant diversity among the participants.

Moderator Ekemini Uwan set the overall tone. At a Christian conference in 2019, Uwan declared, "Whiteness is wicked. It is wicked. It's rooted in violence. It's rooted in theft. It's rooted in plunder. It's rooted in power, in privilege." She has called for defunding the police, reparations, a path to citizenship for illegal immigrants, and an end to the Electoral College, according to Fox News.

When asked about these past comments, Uwan responded that she "told the truth about the wickedness of whiteness." She explained, "I preached the gospel and told them there is grace and that the blood covers. I am an anti-racist Public Theologian. I hold up a mirror, make people face the racist reflection staring back at them, and give them hope found in the gospel of Jesus Christ."

Other speakers are known for previous progressive activism within evangelical churches. Among many, Burk highlights Bishop Claude Alexander, chairman of the board of directors at Christianity Today, Rev. Dwight McKissic, "a well-known activist for women pastors within the Southern Baptist Convention," and Jemar Tisby, an anti-racist author and former assistant director at Ibram X. Kendi's Center for Antiracist Research.

Some speakers appear to focus their political engagement on fighting anti-Asian racism. This includes Russell Jeung, Soong-Chan Rah, and Raymond Chang.

Other speakers are not in pastoral ministry, such as Billy Graham's granddaughter, Jerushah Duford, an "LGBTQ+ friendly" therapist. Another speaker was Christian rapper Derek Minor, whose up-and-down faith journey "doesn't fit the mold anymore."

Some speakers did not even seem to fit the standard definition of evangelical. Matt Tebbe is a priest in the Episcopal Church -- by definition a mainline denomination, as distinct from an evangelical one. Lee Scott, of the Coalition for Christian Outreach is ordained as a minister in the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., another mainline denomination.

The hodgepodge of speakers provides an answer to readers who may be wondering how an "Evangelicals for Harris" group could even form in the first place. How could Bible-believing Christians, who submit their lives to the word of God, support one of the most pro-abortion, pro-LGBT politicians of our time? The answer is that there isn't one answer, but many.

Pure Evil: Planned Parenthood Reportedly Ends Lives of 25 Innocent Babies with Medicated Abortions Offered at the DNC

The Planned Parenthood abortion business has reportedly ended the lives of 25 innocent babies during the Democratic National Convention (DNC), all under the guise of “reproductive healthcare.”

The organization, notorious for its aggressive abortion agenda, took its so-called “services” to a whole new level by offering free medicated abortions, vasectomies, and emergency contraception to attendees and residents in Chicago.

Planned Parenthood Great Rivers of St. Louis led this monstrous operation, proudly announcing on social media that their mobile health clinic would be stationed in Chicago’s West Loop during the DNC, working alongside the Chicago Abortion Fund and other pro-abortion groups.

Biden-Harris admin exaggerated job growth by over 800,000 — Trump calls it a 'massive scandal'

Bureau of Labor Statistics revises numbers.

The Biden-Harris administration's Department of Labor overstated job gains by 818,000 and was forced to revise down the total in its preliminary annual benchmark review.

The DOL previously estimated that the economy would create approximately 242,000 jobs per month. However, a tally of payroll data from April 2023 through March 2024 revealed that only 174,000 jobs were added monthly.

Nearly half of the downward revisions were for the professional and business services sector — a decrease of 358,000 jobs. The DOL also overestimated leisure and hospitality by 150,000, retail trade by 129,000, and manufacturing by 115,000.

The administration's nearly -30% revision of the job numbers marks the most considerable overestimation since 2009. However, the final figures will not be reported until February 2025.

Faith Leaders Meet at White House for Climate Goals

The White House hosted more than a dozen faith leaders Tuesday (Aug. 13) to discuss President Joe Biden's climate-related goals and how faith-based organizations can benefit from and support the administration's climate agenda as the presidential election approaches.

One of the meeting's top priorities was to explain how faith communities can better utilize federal funds for clean energy initiatives.

Houses of worship are eligible to use Direct Pay, a provision through the Inflation Reduction Act that helps tax-exempt entities benefit from federal clean energy tax incentives by issuing payments equal in value to tax credits. The system is meant to encourage nonprofits and other entities to proactively build clean energy projects. Religious leaders in attendance from across the country shared stories of the different ways their congregations have used Direct Pay, from increasing energy efficiency to preparing for natural disasters.

"The main thrust of the whole meeting was to help us religious leaders understand the initiatives well enough to go back to our various communities and share how they can get on board," explained the Rev. Betty Holley, a presiding elder in the African Methodist Episcopal Church in the Ohio Conference and professor of environmental ethics at Payne Theological Seminary.

Holley said the event aimed to help faith communities "be good stewards of what God has given us."

“After the meeting, I was ready to go out with a sign saying ‘follow me to clean energy!’” she said.

Environmental technology and clean energy organizations also presented at the event to highlight collaborations with faith-based partners and seek more.

“We’re looking toward sustainability. How can we sustain ourselves on earth?” she said. “You know, we all have but one home and one future, and we need to be able to get on board now, before we are forced to do this.”

‘Trump is the Antichrist’: State Rep. Givan compares Trump to Charles Manson, David Koresh in TikTok rant

By the last night of the convention, Givan compared Trump to Jim Jones, Warren Jeffs, Marshall Applewhite, David Koresh and Charles Manson.

“Listen! People! Research!” Givan said. “Read up on each of these men. Listen. Tonight, I witnessed people who are following this village idiot, crazy, narcissistic, orange, whatever he is, person, who is a fanatic in his own imagination of himself.”

Givan then said Trump is the Antichrist.

“Trump is still Trump, and what we witnessed tonight was the Antichrist,” Givan added. “For all of my friends that are on the opposite side that say, ‘Oh, it was the Lord and the Lord saved him.’ OK no, he is the Antichrist. Period. Dot com. Dot com. Donald Trump is the Antichrist. We better get prayed up and stay prayed up.”

Givan said she believes the Democratic party will have things sorted out and have a clear path within the next several weeks.

Will Democrats Repeat the Fraud of 2020?

A plot to steal the 2024 election from President Trump is well underway, and not just by suppressing information online or dragging Trump through the court system. Those are instances of throwing anything and everything at the wall hoping something sticks, but not the master plan. The real plots have a much more direct impact on the election results rather than just swaying voter perception. We know this because those behind these plots are openly revealing them.

A recent joint CISA and FBI press release warned of potential “attacks on election infrastructure that support election operations, which could hinder public access to election information.” This was immediately followed by assurances that these attacks would “not impact the security or integrity of election processes.” Essentially, the same FBI that raided President Trump’s Mar-a-Lago home and recently cast doubt on whether he was actually shot is now telling us that, although we may not have live access to election night results—an unprecedented situation in American history, especially just four years after a highly controversial election—we can trust the results whenever they eventually appear on our television sets without question.

Cook County State’s Attorney Declares that DNC Rioters Will Not be Prosecuted

Cook County State's Attorney Kim Foxx announced on Sunday that none of the rioters who are attempting to disrupt the Democratic National Convention (DNC) will be charged.

As reported by Breitbart, Foxx made the announcement preemptively, ahead of the start of the DNC on August 19. Foxx declared that she considered the rioters to be "peaceful," and further stated that her office will not prosecute even the unruly rioters who commit misdemeanors, including disorderly conduct, unlawful gathering, criminal trespass, and curfew charges.

"Whether it's the O'Hare 40, or the educators at Northwestern, or the students at the Art Institute. We are consistent. We don't prosecute these cases," said Foxx. "So this is not a policy that has been stagnant since 2020. It's certainly a policy that we will continue to take into the DNC."

Foxx is one of several far-left attorneys who was backed by billionaire George Soros to run for prosecutors of major counties and other jurisdictions across the United States, with State's Attorney being Cook County's equivalent of a District Attorney. One of Soros' super PACs donated $408,000 to her first campaign in 2016.

Michigan Jury Finds Seven Pro-Lifers Guilty Of FACE Act Violations For Preventing Baby Deaths

The Department of Justice (DOJ) continues to hound pro-life activists who go to abortion businesses and try to convince pregnant women not to kill their babies.

A Detroit, Michigan, jury found seven pro-lifers guilty Tuesday of engaging in a civil rights conspiracy and violating the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances (FACE) Act for standing and sitting in front of the door of the Northland Family Planning Clinic in Sterling Heights, Michigan, Aug. 27, 2020.

The convicted include Calvin Zastrow, a Michigan preacher, and his daughter Eva Zastrow, 26, a missionary worker; and Chester Gallagher of Tennessee, a former police officer who left his job and joined the pro-life movement when he realized they were trying to stop a “murder in progress,” as he often says.

“Yet again, the Biden-Harris Department of Justice has decided to characterize the actions of peaceful pro-lifers as a felony ‘Conspiracy Against Rights,’ punishable by over a decade in federal prison. After the overturning of Roe v. Wade, we believe the FACE Act to be unconstitutional, and we will continue to advocate on behalf of peaceful pro-life citizens like Chet Gallagher, Lauren Handy, and Paul Vaughn, who have been targeted with harsh prosecution by this Department of Justice,” Thomas More Society Senior Counsel Steve Crampton said in a statement. “We also believe that the U.S. Supreme Court’s recent decision in Fischer v. United States confirms that the Department of Justice’s novel strategy to inflict maximize pain upon peaceful pro-lifers by adding a charge of felony Conspiracy Against Rights cannot be squared with the law and we stand ready to make that case.”

Also found guilty were Justin Phillips, a missionary, and Joel Curry, 31, an evangelist, both of Michigan.

Heather Idoni, 59, a mother of 15, including 10 adopted from Ukraine, was also found guilty. Idoni, a former Christian bookstore owner, is currently held in federal prison for a previous FACE Act conviction in Washington, D.C.

Also convicted was Eva Edl, 89, of South Carolina.

Both Edl and Idoni believe they may die before being released from prison. If they are sentenced to the full 11 years, Edl would be 100 at the end of the sentence. These two have another FACE violation for blocking a door at a Saginaw, Michigan, abortion mill on April 16, 2021.

As a child, Edl was taken by train cattle car as a prisoner to the Gakova concentration camp in Yugoslavia, where she faced starvation and was surrounded by death, but ultimately was able to escape.

Former Colorado clerk Tina Peters, one-time hero to election deniers, convicted in computer breach

Former Colorado clerk Tina Peters, the first local election official to be charged with a security breach after the 2020 election as unfounded conspiracy theories swirled, was found guilty by a jury on most charges Monday.

Peters, a one-time hero to election deniers, was accused of using someone else's security badge to give an expert affiliated with My Pillow chief executive Mike Lindell access to the Mesa County election system and deceiving other officials about that person's identity.

Lindell is a prominent promoter of false claims that voting machines were manipulated to steal the election from Donald Trump. His online broadcasting site has been showing a livestream of Peters' trial and sending out daily email updates, sometimes asking for prayers for Peters and including statements from her.

Prosecutors said Peters was seeking fame and became "fixated" on voting problems after becoming involved with those who had questioned the accuracy of the 2020 presidential election results.

BREAKING: Former Mesa, CO Clerk and Election Patriot Tina Peters Found Guilty on 7 of 10 Charges

Former Mesa County Clerk and gold star mom Tina Peters was found guilty on seven of ten charges for preserving critical election data. The post BREAKING: Former Mesa, CO Clerk and Election Patriot Tina Peters Found Guilty on 7 of 10 Charges appeared first on The Gateway Pundit.

Former Mesa County Clerk and gold star mom Tina Peters was found guilty on seven of ten charges for preserving critical election data.

The Gateway Pundit's Brian Lupo attended the trial and will post an update on Tuesday.

Tina Peters is the Election Clerk from Mesa County, Colorado. She made a copy of her machines' information before performing the action requested by Griswald, who demanded that all voting machines's election data should be erased (which is against the law) after the 2020 election.

Ms. Peters was attacked for her actions.

Mesa County District launched a criminal investigation against Peters for allegedly posting election system passwords on the internet.

Peters maintains she had nothing to do with the crime she is accused and is being targeted for documenting election fraud in her county.

"We have a secretary of state that is drunk with power. She makes emergency decrees and when we query her – she refuses to answer in violation of the state law," she told the crowd during Mike Lindell's symposium. "When I started having citizens come to me and tell me that something didn't seem right in our local city elections from years ago to our 2020 election I said if there is a there we will do something about it. I am a Republican — I am a conservative and she's not and she weaponizes her position to attack people who disagree with her.

"I've been persecuted. They are trying to take over our election office. We are the last bastion of freedom in Colorado," the Mesa County. "We have listened to people. They send me things from all over and there are some discrepancies there that I cannot deny or unsee."

The FBI raided her home instead of investigating her claims.

"The FBI raided my home at 6 a.m. this morning, accusing me of committing a crime. And they raided the homes of my friends, mostly older women. I was terrified," " Peters said on the Lindell channel, adding the FBI "used a battering ram" to destroy the front door of one of her friends' homes, according to Colorado Politics.

"Essentially, they were soldiers in combat gear. They were not men in suits with badges," Peters said. "They looked very much like they were in a combat zone — soldiers with automatic weapons and combat gear."

In February 2022, Peters was interrupted at a local restaurant by police and arrested on some garbage charges.

On Monday, Peters was convicted on three counts of attempting to influence a public servant and one count of conspiracy to commit criminal impersonation. Additionally, she faced convictions for first-degree official misconduct, violation of duty, and failure to comply with an order from the Secretary of State—each a misdemeanor, according to CPR News.

The jury found Peters not guilty on three charges: criminal impersonation, conspiracy to commit criminal impersonation, and identity theft.

Peters' defense team argued that her actions were within her authority as she sought to preserve what she believed were critical election records. Defense attorney John Case contended that there was no wrongdoing in copying hard drives, claiming that state officials intended to erase vital information during their updates.

Her sentencing is scheduled for October 3rd.

According to Law Professor David Clements, "The judge refused nearly all of her witnesses and excluded virtually all of her defenses."

Holy war erupts as National Guard officer booted from command for voicing Christian beliefs

Subordinate claims: 'All the posts on his social media and how public he is about his hate towards individuals like me and my family. Not just for me but for my husband and my child'

Liberty Counsel has announced it is bringing a free speech fight to the Idaho Army National Guard demanding the organization "restore" the career of an infantry officer who was removed from command and illegally pressured to resign because of a soldier's complaints about the officer's statements regarding his personal Christian beliefs.

The statements were made as the officer explained on his private social media his perspectives on gender ideology and the sexualization of children. The officer argued against graphic and obscene children's books in a library, "drag" events in libraries and schools and said "no child is born in the wrong body."

He also objected to "the medical mutilation of gender-confused children."

Far-Left UK Government To Release Thousands of Prisoners To Make Room For Speech Violators, Online Comments

The UK is releasing criminals from prison, to make room for people who post wrong-think on the internet. Britain is launching "operation early dawn" to release 5000 criminals from prison to make room those just arrested for things they posted on social media.

Out Orwelling Orwell.

Threatening people with prison only works if there are cells to hold them. Starmer has decided that it is better to let real criminals out in order to continue to threaten his political opponents with jail time.

Those charged with criminal offenses usually have to wait eight or more months for a trial date, but Starmer has thrown that already overcrowded system into chaos by "fast tracking" hundreds of protestors into courts all over England so that they can be thrown into prison with disproportionately long sentences. One effect of all this, amongst other things, is that all the court documents that were already processed or were in the process of being prepared for court will now have to be trashed and this may lead to thousands of criminal cases being dropped for one reason or another.

It looks like Starmer's big stick that he has been using to threaten his opponents and protestors alike is already losing its effectiveness.

Soros-Funded Fake News Network Swamps Nevada Voters With Disinformation
Courier Newsroom is also tied to former Jeffrey Epstein associate Reid Hoffman

The George Soros-funded Democratic propaganda network Courier Newsroom is ramping up in Nevada, spending big on misleading digital ads disguised as news stories claiming, among other things, that former president Donald Trump would bring back a military draft.

Courier in 2023 added The Nevadan to its roster of local "news" websites that push Democratic talking points. Courier's founder, the Democratic operative Tara McGowan, says the network's goal is to combat disinformation, but The Nevadan has inundated voters in the swing state since June with deceptive Facebook advertisements attacking Republicans and propping up Vice President Kamala Harris and Sen. Jacky Rosen (D., Nev.).

Courier was originally owned by the Democratic dark money group ACRONYM, which is backed by billionaire Laurene Powell Jobs. ACRONYM divested from Courier in 2021 following criticism that the network was a fake news operation. Courier's new parent company, Good Information Inc., was launched in 2021 with seed funding from Democratic megadonor Reid Hoffman, a former associate of pedophile Jeffrey Epstein. Soros, the liberal billionaire financier, has also contributed $20 million to Courier through his Open Society Foundations since 2021.

Global digital marking system coming soon to United States of America: Biden admin working on draft executive order

I have been reporting about this for exactly four years, warning people that it was coming and to prepare for the day when you won't be able to buy or sell unless you submit to a biometric digital ID based on a scan of your eyeballs, your palm, or some other unique physical feature. Whoever submits to a biometric digital ID is accepting a sinister system designed for one reason and one reason only — to inventory and control every human being on the planet through the power of artificial intelligence.

The Biden administration is drafting an executive order for federal and state governments to speed up the adoption of digital ID — including mobile driver's licenses — and for the development of a uniform, government-run online identity system to verify identity and age, and access public websites and services.

NOTUS, a nonprofit news outlet, obtained a draft of the executive order, which states: “It is the policy of the executive branch to strongly encourage the use of digital identity documents.”

According to NOTUS, the executive order “could reshape how Americans access government services, and potentially behave online.”

A digital ID system could operate with the use of biometric scans like facial recognition to “help better verify identity online,” NOTUS reported, noting the federal government is working with Apple and Google to build systems that would “allow Americans to carry identity documents on their smartphones and frictionlessly submit them to both government and private sector websites for verification.”

Here Comes The Fear: The WHO Warns That The New Mutant Strain Of Monkeypox Is An Emergency “For The Entire Globe”

It was fun while it lasted. We actually had quite a few months without an official “global health emergency” to be concerned about, but now that streak is over. On Wednesday, the World Health Organization announced that Monkeypox has officially been classified as a “public health emergency of international concern”. Health officials have lost control of the new mutant strain that is spreading in Africa, and so that is why this move was made. Compared to the strain that caused so much chaos in 2022, this new strain has a much higher death rate and we are being told that in many cases it is spreading without any sexual contact at all. If this thing gets loose in the United States and Europe, the level of fear that we will witness will be off the charts.

For now, the only confirmed cases of this new mutant strain of Monkeypox are all in central Africa.

But it is probably only a matter of time before it spreads to more areas.

US pharmaceutical companies ran drug trials with Chinese military for more than a decade, House committee reveals

US biopharmaceutical companies have been running drug trials with the Chinese military for more than a decade, a House committee shockingly revealed in a Monday letter to the Food and Drug Administration.

Republican and Democratic leaders of the House Select Committee on the Chinese Communist Party wrote to FDA Commissioner Robert Califf, demanding information about the clinical trials for new drugs.

“These collaborative research activities raise serious concerns that critical Intellectual Property is at risk of being transferred to the [Chinese military] or being co-opted under the People’s Republic of China’s National Security Law,” said Chairman John Moolenaar (R-Mich.), Ranking Member Raja Krishnamoorthi (D-Ill.), Rep. Neal Dunn (R-Fla.) and Rep. Anna Eshoo (D-Calif.).

Conversely, there are also concerns with the trustworthiness of clinical trial data produced overseas from [People’s Liberation Army] institutions,” the lawmakers added.

Hundreds of the clinical trials have taken place in China at Chinese military-affiliated medical centers and hospitals, the letter notes, including one ongoing test for an advanced Alzheimer’s treatment.

Those include the PLA’s General Hospital and Medical School, the PLA’s Air Force Medical University and the Hospital of the PLA, which is operated by the PLA’s Academy of Military Medical Sciences (AMMS).

Some female victims have been raped or sterilized in the abominable “re-education camps” while others have reportedly even had their organs harvested.

“As we know, there is simply no ability for firms to conduct due diligence to ensure that clinical trials done in XUAR are voluntary,” the House select committee members point out in their letter.

A tornado sank a luxury sailing boat off the coast of Sicily. Here’s what we know emergency workers in southern Italy are still hunting for at least one person who remains missing after a tornado sank a luxury yacht early Monday – prompting an air and naval operation off the coast of Sicily.

Twenty-two people are thought to have been on the yacht when the tragedy struck. Fifteen people were rescued from the wreckage, according to Italy’s Coast Guard. One body was recovered on Monday and five more were found on Wednesday, after divers struggled to reach deep inside the yacht around 50 meters underwater (approximately 150 feet).

Two Americans and four Britons were among the six initially reported missing – including British tech tycoon Mike Lynch, Jonathan Bloomer, chairman of Morgan Stanley International, and Chris Morvillo, a prominent lawyer. The five bodies found Wednesday have not been identified, while the body recovered Monday is thought to be that of the onboard chef Ricardo Thomas.

A small waterspout – a type of tornado – spun over the Mediterranean island early Monday, likely capsizing the sailing boat amid lashings of rain and strong thunderstorms.

The British-flagged yacht, called the “Bayesian,” was anchored about a half a mile from the port of Porticello, on Sicily’s northern coast. The vessel sank after its mast broke in half in the storm, Salvatore Cocina, head of Sicily’s Civil Protection, told CNN on Tuesday.

Eyewitnesses described furious gales and hurricane-like winds that left an avalanche of debris near the pier.

More than a dozen survivors were spotted in the area hanging onto life rafts, according to the captain of a nearby boat, who steadied his ship to avoid colliding with the Bayesian.

“We got this strong hurricane gust and we had to start the engine to keep the ship in an angled position,” Karsten Bower told reporters in Palermo on Monday. “After the storm was over, we noticed that the ship behind us was gone.”

<https://www.paradigmshift.com.pk/weather-warfare/>

Weather Warfare: Weapons of the Future

Amid climate concerns, states are now devising ways to change and control the weather. However, this initiative could tempt global powers into using weather to gain military advantage. Muhammad Sajjad and Saba Kiran review international frameworks and several studies to demonstrate how weather modification technology can be used in future wars.

Since conflict is impacted by geopolitics, social, technological, financial, environmental, and military advancements, its future cannot be predicted. When we consider warfare, we’re often prepared for the most recent conflict, use archaic military metaphors, or focus on historically effective combat tactics that are now or soon will be obsolete. The picture of international security is fast changing (Dennis, 2008).

Modern weather manipulation (WM) was developed by Langmuir and Schaefer in 1948 (Schaefer, 1953) by utilising dry ice pellets to make holes in supercooled stratus via snow-out. This experiment provided compelling visual proof that seeding is beneficial, which encouraged more rain augmentation and hail avoidance initiatives all around the world.

Dr. Irving Langmuir, winner of the Nobel Prize in physics, and Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer worked together on those initial tests for the General Electric Research Laboratory. Langmuir claimed that, under ideal conditions, the energy released by 30 milligrams of silver iodide is equivalent to one atomic bomb, and that “weather control or rainmaking may be as successful as the atomic bomb in combat.”

Langmuir stated that “the government should seize weather control phenomena in the same way that it seized atomic energy when Albert Einstein forewarned the late President Roosevelt in 1939 of the potential potency of an atom-splitting weapon.” A dangerous cloud formation was seen travelling toward Waco on a meteorological station’s radar in 1953, according to Captain Howard T. Orville, leader of the US President’s Advisory Committee on Meteorological Control.

The cloud’s morphology suggested a tornado may emerge. There were no adverse effects on persons or property from the storm’s breakup. Even while it may seem impossible to imagine a tornado being destroyed in its early stages right now, it is extremely possible that it might happen within the next 40 years. Research may reveal ways to not only scatter approaching storms and tornadoes but also drastically affect all of our weather in the age of the H-bomb and supersonic flight.

'Face of Jesus' unveiled by AI using Shroud of Turin after astonishing discovery

EXCLUSIVE: As scientists claim to have "proven" the Shroud of Turin dates back to Jesus Christ's time, Daily Express has used AI to reveal what he may really have looked like Artificial intelligence has recreated the "face of Jesus Christ" from a piece of cloth some believe was used to wrap him after his Crucifixion.

The Shroud of Turin has divided opinion for centuries, with some claiming an outline of Christ's face can even be seen in the material. Others routinely dismiss it as a forgery but new technology used by Italian scientists suggests that the 14ft linen sheet may indeed date back to the time of Christ.

Jews bow in prayer on Temple Mount, violating status quo, as police stand by and watch

Police officer ignores Jews bowing in prayer on Temple Mount for second day in a row, defying the status quo which prohibits Jewish worship at the site; A Jew who was praying on western side, near Al-Aqsa Mosque, was detained Following Minister Itamar Ben-Gvir's call to allow Jews to pray freely, police appear to have normalized defying the status quo at Temple Mount, under which Jewish worship is prohibited at the site. A police officer ignored a Jewish man who bowed while praying at the holy Jewish site on Wednesday. Jewish activists say that the police allowed them to pray as they wished.
