Miami Imam's Sermon Prays "Oh Allah, Annihilate the Jews," "the Brothers of Apes and Pigs"

In his April 26, 2024 Friday sermon at Masjid As Sunnah An Nabawiyyah North Miami, Florida imam Dr. Fadi Kablawi accused the Israeli military of organ trafficking. He said that they are worse than the Nazis, and he alleged that Israel is stealing the skin and organs of Palestinians. Kablawi suggested: "Go and find who is behind organ trading in this country or this world." He repeated a conspiracy theory according to which Israeli medical and rescue teams that came to Haiti following the 2010 earthquake engaged in organ theft (for more information, see MEMRITV clip no 2370). Kablawi concluded his sermon by praying that Allah annihilates the "tyrannical Jews," the "brothers of apes and pigs." The sermon was streamed live on the Facebook page of the mosque.

FBI and DHS Issue Warning on Foreign Terrorist Groups for June

The agencies say groups such as ISIS could target 'Pride month'-related events.

The FBI and Department of Homeland Security (DHS) have issued a public service announcement saying foreign terrorist organizations such as ISIS and related terrorist organizations could target certain events across the United States during "Pride Month"-related events in June.

"Organizations like ISIS may seek to exploit increased gatherings associated with the upcoming June 2024 Pride Month," the announcement reads. The two agencies stated that the terror threat is "compounded" by the "current heightened threat environment" in the United States.

The terrorist threats could come via the mail, in person, or online, the agencies stated without elaborating or providing specific details.

‘One Health’ Is A Cult Based On Gaia Worship, Wicca, Neo-Paganism

The First Amendment starts with, “Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.” Congress has largely been asleep as forces with the Administration have proliferated “One Health” policies that seek to merge man and the earth into oneness. However, this is an age-old religion associated with paganism, Wicca, and Gaiaism, and it needs to be called on the carpet for what it is!

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) defines One Health as,

One Health is a collaborative, multisectoral, and transdisciplinary approach — working at the local, regional, national, and global levels — with the goal of achieving optimal health outcomes recognizing the interconnection between people, animals, plants, and their shared environment.

Another 19 Federal agencies are wrapped into the One Health mantra, having been sucked into the “whole-of-government” vortex created under the Clinton administration. Because of the myriad regulations created to enforce it, states, counties, and cities are steeped in it.

The pictorial below depicts a minuscule man relating to public health, global health, one health, and finally, planetary health. Since the planet is sick, mostly by the actions of man, it needs to be healed, resuscitated and made whole again.

Gaia Worship, Wicca and Paganism

One occultic site explains:

Gaianism is an earth-centered philosophical, spiritual, holistic, scientifically-rational, opinion that shares expressions with various religions such as earth religions and paganism while not identifying exclusively with any specific one.

Practitioners of Gaianism are called “Gaians”, or sometimes Gaianists. Followers typically approach the philosophy with the perspective that we should honor the earth, reduce or soften the human impact on the earth, and be respectful of all life on earth. The latter perspective is extended to all forms of life such as plant, animal, or human, and followers will often try to maintain a close relationship with the planet.

The “inventor” of Gaiaism was scientist James Lovelock (1918-2022), a climate alarmist who pictured the earth as a living organism. He was also a Technocrat who stated “We need a more authoritarian world. We’ve become a sort of cheeky, egalitarian world where everyone can have their say [...] it may be necessary to put democracy on hold for a while.”

Two scholars at the University of Westminster continued,

This threat of eco-authoritarianism is often linked to a rising tendency towards technocracy, which suggests that decisions should be left to those with relevant scientific and technical expertise: this, it is implied, will speed up decision-making and generate more effective green outcomes.

New State-mandated Religion

Since One Health has been crammed down our throats by the government, it is safe to say that a new state-mandated religion has been declared. The final proof is this: just try to criticize it (especially if you are a Christian) and see where it gets you.

https://www.who.int/health-topics/one-health#tab=tab_1

One Health is an integrated, unifying approach that aims to sustainably balance and optimize the health of people, animals and ecosystems.

It recognizes that the health of humans, domestic and wild animals, plants, and the wider environment (including ecosystems) are closely linked and interdependent

By linking humans, animals and the environment, One Health can help to address the full spectrum of disease control – from prevention to detection, preparedness, response and management – and contribute to global health security

One Health is an approach that recognizes that the health of people is closely connected to the health of animals and our shared environment. One Health is not new, but it has become more important in recent years. This is because many factors have changed interactions between people, animals, plants, and our environment

<https://www.usda.gov/topics/animals/one-health>

The health of animals, people and the environment is connected. The "One Health" approach is the collaborative effort of the human health, veterinary health and environmental health communities. Through this collaboration, USDA achieves optimal health outcomes for both animals and people.

With its partners such as the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the Environmental Protection Agency, tribal Nations, USDA seeks to maintain or reduce health risks to animals, humans, the environment and society.

Michigan readies emergency order to manage bird flu outbreak hurting poultry farmers

Starting Wednesday on May 8, a state emergency order will go into effect in Michigan in an effort to limit the spread of Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza.

While it's not impacting people yet, HPAI's toll on the state's economy as well as its operations for supplying eggs and meat has taken a hit. Left unchecked, the director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development warns issues could only intensify.

"Michigan's been in the unique position of dealing with a pretty significant HPAI outbreak both in a number of fair herds here in the state, but a number of poultry operations as well - some commercial egg laying facilities, some turkey farms," said Director Tim Boring.

Normally, mid-spring issues that farmers manage are normally related to the weather and too much rain - or cold nights freezing crops. But this year, it's the bird flu.

"Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza has been around the country for a couple of years now, but what makes this latest outbreak really significant is the fact it is now very prevalent in dairy cattle across the country," Boring said.

Raw Milk Sales Skyrocket as Idiots Believe Drinking Bird Flu Will Give Them 'Immunity'

Pasteurization kills H5N1, but raw milk has "high concentrations" of the virus. Please don't drink raw milk.

Sales of raw milk in the U.S. have risen 21% since bird flu was first confirmed in dairy cattle in late March, according to a report from PBS Newshour, citing new data from research firm NielsenIQ. Why on Earth would people drink raw milk at a time when pasteurization has been shown to kill the virus? Because some people believe intentionally being exposed to H5N1 will give them "immunity" to the disease. Seriously.

At least 46 dairy cow herds in nine states have tested positive for bird flu, according to the latest figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, with four new herds reported just today. The big concern is that widespread outbreaks in dairy cows provide more opportunities for the virus to mutate, potentially allowing it to spread freely among other species.

Demographic Winter Is Coming - Fertility Rates Plummet All Over The Globe

Fertility rates have fallen way below replacement level throughout the entire industrialized world, and this is starting to cause major problems all over the globe. Aging populations are counting on younger generations to take care of them as they get older, but younger generations are not nearly large enough to accomplish that task.

Meanwhile, there aren't enough qualified young workers in many fields to replace the expertise of older workers that are now retiring.

OpenAI and Google are launching supercharged AI assistants. Here's how you can try them out.

They promise to be leaps ahead of tools like Siri or Alexa.

This week, Google and OpenAI both announced they've built supercharged AI assistants: tools that can converse with you in real time and recover when you interrupt them, analyze your surroundings via live video, and translate conversations on the fly.

OpenAI struck first on Monday, when it debuted its new flagship model GPT-4o. The live demonstration showed it reading bedtime stories and helping to solve math problems, all in a voice that sounded eerily like Joaquin Phoenix's AI girlfriend in the movie Her (a trait not lost on CEO Sam Altman).

On Tuesday, Google announced its own new tools, including a conversational assistant called Gemini Live, which can do many of the same things. It also revealed that it's building a sort of "do-everything" AI agent, which is currently in development but will not be released until later this year.

Thanks a lot, Speaker Johnson: FBI brass just urged agents to use warrantless wiretaps on US citizens...

The FBI is at it again, going after US citizens with a little help from Speaker Johnson and the rest of Congress, who voted to extend the FBI's 702 FISA powers. Remember, these are the same powers they used illegally against President Trump and his team without ever facing the consequences. Now, they're back in action, ready to crank up the wiretaps, all thanks to our "captured" lawmakers. As a matter of fact, about 20 minutes before becoming Speaker, Mike Johnson was against the FBI's warrantless wiretaps. But that stance took a quick turn after the feds got him alone in a locked room and really worked him over.

But as Speaker, Johnson has done a full 180, opposing a new warrant requirement for Section 702 of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) — and infuriating Judiciary members who feel that requirement is crucial for preventing Justice Department abuses.

"These were views that the Speaker deeply held, like, 20 minutes ago," Rep. Matt Gaetz (R-Fla.) said Wednesday shortly before leading an effort to tank a procedural vote that would have kicked off debate on the broader FISA reform bill.

Johnson isn't disguising the change of tune, saying the reversal is a simple function of learning more about the program as Speaker and deciding it's vital to national security — and that his earlier criticisms were off target.

"When I was a member of Judiciary, I saw all of the abuses of the FBI — there were terrible abuses, over and over and over," Johnson told reporters in the Capitol on Wednesday evening.

"And then when I became Speaker, I went to the SCIF and got the confidential briefing from sort of the other perspective on that, to understand the necessity of Section 702 of FISA and how important it is for national security. And it gave me a different perspective," he continued, using an abbreviation for sensitive compartmented information facility (SCIF).

Now, thanks to Johnson and the rest of the uniparty turncoats in Congress, the FBI is practically drooling over the prospect of spying with impunity on unsuspecting Americans. They'll likely kick things off with Trump supporters, keep the ball rolling with more Trump supporters, and then really zero in on—guess who?—Trump supporters. You know the drill.

Steve Bannon is heading to JAIL as appeals court upholds his conviction for defying the January 6 committee subpoena

Donald Trump's former chief strategist Steve Bannon is likely headed to prison after an appeals court upheld his conviction for contempt of Congress.

He was handed a four-month sentence in 2022 for refusing to give evidence to a congressional investigation into the Jan. 6 attack on the U.S. Capitol.

But it was put on hold as he appealed, saying that he acted in good faith by following legal advice and that he was barred from including critical evidence at his trial.

Jailed DC pro-lifer Lauren Handy sentenced to 4 years in prison by pro-abortion judge

Pro-life advocate Lauren Handy was sentenced to four years in prison, in the first of Tuesday's sentencing hearings for the peaceful pro-life rescuers convicted last year of blocking access to a late-term abortion center in DC.

Pro-life advocate Lauren Handy was sentenced to four years in prison and a $125 fine on Tuesday, in the first of Tuesday's sentencing hearings for the first batch of pro-lifers convicted last year of blocking access to a late-term abortion facility in the nation's capital.

On August 29, 2023, a D.C. jury found Handy, Will Goodman, Heather Itoni, John Hinshaw, and Rosemary "Herb" Geraghty guilty of violating the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances (FACE) Act and "conspiracy against rights." The next month, Joan Andrews Bell, Jonathan Darnel, and Jean Marshall were convicted of the same; Paulette Harlow's conviction came in November.

Pastors remain silent as Canada perpetrates a mass anti-Christian hate crime

Many Christian leaders would never say this out loud, but they have largely adopted the left's view of the West and treat the historical dominance of Christian culture as a source of great shame.

The Canadian government and media have colluded in a mass anti-Christian hate hoax that resulted in the burning of more than 80 churches. In any other circumstance, this vicious display of religious persecution would be held up as a horrendous violation of human rights, but you will not hear a single word from the many charities and watchdog organizations dedicated to monitoring such abuses.

This pogrom against Christian churches was instigated by a wide range of Canadian elites, including Prime Minister Justin Trudeau, but the event is unlikely to get so much as a mention from pastors in the United States this Sunday. Instead, American congregations are likely to hear lectures about the evils of holding political power and the dangers of Christian nationalism, even as their brothers in Christ watch sacred places of worship burn to the ground with the approval of the secular state.

Group Claims 8,200 Nigerian Christians Killed in 13 Months

A group is claiming a horrifyingly high number of Christians killed in Nigeria in just 13 months, as the anti-Christian genocide there rages on.

The International Society for Civil Liberties and Rule of Law spoke to The Daily Post in April about the murder and displacement of thousands of Christians in Nigeria, where Islamic jihadis are particularly active

“In Nigeria, according to Intersociety’s Special Report of Feb 14, 2024, more than 8,200 defenceless Christians were hacked to death in 13 months of Jan 2023 to Jan 2024 and over 8,000 abducted, out of which 10% or 800 are not capable of returning to their families alive,” the group declared.

Intersociety criticized Christian leadership in its statement, arguing that “Christian leaders are hypocrites and fakers who are no longer true ‘defenders of faith.’” Ultimately, however, the “serious threat of extinction” posed to Christianity in Nigeria comes from “violent and intolerant state actors and non-state actors.” As I noted above, this includes Islamic jihadis, such as the Boko Haram terrorist group. And Christians are not the only victims.

In fact, according to Intersociety, 4,000 victims were neither Christian nor Muslim. “Nigeria also recorded over 150,000 religious related deaths since the July 2009 Boko Haram uprising, involving killing of at least 100,000 defenceless Christians, 46,000 moderate Muslims,” Intersociety detailed. “Direct killings also accounted for not less than 100,000 deaths and indirect killings, including deaths arising from state actor and non-state custodial torture and shootings or hackings took the remaining 50,000 deaths.”

SoCal district to pay $360K to teacher who was fired after refusing to follow transgender policies

A Riverside County school district has agreed to pay $360,000 to settle a lawsuit from a former teacher who was fired last year after refusing to adhere to policies regarding transgender or gender-nonconforming students, citing her Christian beliefs.

Jessica Tapia, who taught physical education at Jurupa Valley High School, claimed in her wrongful termination lawsuit that her free speech and religious rights had been violated. She had refused — hypothetically, in statements to district personnel — to use students’ preferred pronouns, to allow them to use the locker room matching their gender identity, or to “withhold information” from parents about their child’s gender identity, according to the federal lawsuit.
