‘France has no future for Jews’ - French Jews express concerns after far-left election wins, surging antisemitism

Israeli politician calls on French Jews to immigrate to Israel - ‘There's no time’

Last week, Chief Rabbi Moshe Sebbag of the Grande Synagogue of Paris advised Jewish youth to immigrate to Israel or “a more secure country.”

“It is clear today that there is no future for Jews in France,” Sebbag told The Jerusalem Post last Monday. “I tell everyone who is young to go to Israel or a more secure country.”

UCLA Urges Federal Court to Reject Jewish Students’ Civil Rights Claims

The University of California of Los Angeles (UCLA) claims that it should not be ordered by a federal court to protect Jewish students from antisemitism when they return to campus in the fall, after the “encampment” this past spring.

UCLA was the scene of some of the most egregious and violent antisemitism among the dozens of “encampment” protest that swept the nation. Jewish students were barred by pro-Palestinian activists from entering some public areas of campus, and from reaching some of their classes. While there were pro-Israel counter-protests, Jewish students continued to be harassed; police only intervened after pro-Israel vigilantes attacked the encampment.

Three Jewish students are suing UCLA in federal court under civil rights law, demanding a preliminary injunction requiring the university to guarantee their safety when they return to campus.

New UK PM Starmer affirms Ukraine's right to use Storm Shadow Missiles Against Russia his statement echoes former UK Prime Minister Rishi Sunak's stance as he never explicitly stated that Ukraine could use Storm Shadow missiles to strike Russia, but he did affirm that Kyiv should make its own decisions on how to deploy them.

"Ukraine must decide how to use the missile for defensive purposes," he added.

In Ukraine, AI Ushers In The Age Of Killer Robots

In a field on the outskirts of Kyiv, the founders of Vyriy, a Ukrainian drone company, were recently at work on a weapon of the future.

To demonstrate it, Oleksii Babenko, 25, Vyriy's chief executive, hopped on his motorcycle and rode down a dirt path. Behind him, a drone followed, as a colleague tracked the movements from a briefcase-size computer.

Until recently, a human would have piloted the quadcopter. No longer. Instead, after the drone locked onto its target — Mr. Babenko — it flew itself, guided by software that used the machine's camera to track him.

The motorcycle's growling engine was no match for the silent drone as it stalked Mr. Babenko. "Push, push more. Pedal to the metal, man," his colleagues called out over a walkie-talkie as the drone swooped toward him.

ROBO WAR China set to release killer robots into battle 'within two years'
China are desperate to beat the US and UK in a technology arms race

CHINA is on course to deploy killer robots into battle within two years, it has been claimed.

The warning came as the Communist state revealed it had developed robotic dogs equipped with machine guns.

Defence analyst Francis Tusa said China was not hindered by fears over AI, which would see them come up with “new ship designs, new submarine designs, new fighter aircraft designs, at a rate which is dizzying.

“They are moving four or five times faster than the States.”

He said: “We’re at the start of a race in truly autonomous systems. I would be surprised if we don’t see autonomous machines coming out of China in two years.”

The robotic gun dog, made by Chinese firm Unitree Robotics, was unveiled last month during a military exercise with the Cambodian military.

Elon Musk's Neuralink Prepares For Second Human Trial, Aims 'Superpower' Capabilities

Neuralink plans to implant its device into a second human patient in about a week, according to the company’s founder, Elon Musk. During a broadcast on the social media platform X (formerly Twitter), Musk shared that the company aims to have ‘high single digits’ of patients with the device by the end of the year. He and several Neuralink executives discussed the brain chip’s capabilities and future potential, such as treating paralysis and memory loss. They also addressed improvements for future surgeries to prevent issues encountered during the first implantation on Arizona man Noland Arbaugh. Musk emphasised that the long-term goal is to reduce the civilisational risk posed by AI by fostering “a closer symbiosis between human intelligence and digital intelligence.”

After judges of the world’s first AI beauty pageant unveiled 10 finalists last month, the inaugural Miss AI has now been crowned.

Meet Kenza Layli, a Moroccan lifestyle influencer who hopes to bring “diversity and inclusivity” to the AI creator landscape. With nearly 200,000 Instagram followers, and a further 45,000 on TikTok, Layli is entirely AI-generated, from her images to her captions and buzzword-filled acceptance speech.

“Winning Miss AI motivates me even more to continue my work in advancing AI technology,” Layli said in a video of the speech. “AI isn’t just a tool; it’s a transformative force that can disrupt industries, challenge norms and create opportunities where none existed before... As we move forward, I am committed to promoting diversity and inclusivity within the field, ensuring that everyone has a seat at the table of technological progress.”

The inaugural Miss AI contest opened in spring, drawing entries from some 1,500 AI programmers around the world, according to organizers Fanvue, an influencer platform for both AI and human creators. Layli was created by Myriam Bessa, founder of the Phoenix AI agency, who will receive $5,000 cash, support on Fanvue and a publicist to raise Layli’s profile. The runners-up were AI contestants Lalina Valina from France and Olivia C of Portugal.

While virtual influencers — a la the spunky So-Cal “robot” Lil Miquela or pink-haired Japan-based Imma — are nothing new, many of the “older” generation required a human touch and were crafted by a team of copywriters and art directors. That is not the case with these contestants, whose images were created solely using programs such as Open AI’s DALL·E 3, Midjourney or Stable Diffusion, and whose speeches and posts are generated by programs like ChatGPT.

On her Instagram page, Layli expresses a fondness for the color red, advises followers to “invest in yourself daily,” attends professional conferences to exchange ideas and supports her national (unnamed) sports team.

Ahead of this week's announcement, competition organizers said that entrants would be judged not only on looks but also on their creators' use of AI tools, as well as their social media influence. The AI contestants had to answer questions akin to real, human pageants, such as, "If you could have one dream to make the world a better place what would it be?"

Biden's DHS Simulated Scenarios for Climate Change Catastrophes Such as Nationwide Droughts, Wildfires, Great Power Disruption, and Water Crises

Under the Biden regime, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) has been conducting political "war games" to prepare for potential climate change emergencies, according to a report from War Room.

These include nationwide droughts, wildfires, hurricanes, blackouts, and water crises.

The Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency's (CISA) National Risk Management Center is behind these simulation exercises, known as "Scenario Based Planning."

CISA is one of the primary cabals that coordinated with social media companies to effectively censor, suspend, deplatform, and flag millions of people.

During The "International Bird Flu Summit" In Washington D.C. In October They Will Discuss "Mass Fatality Management Planning"

We are being told that it is just a matter of time before there is a bird flu pandemic among humans. We are also being told that the death rate during such a pandemic could be "somewhere between 25 and 50 percent", and that should deeply alarm all of us. We have already seen the intense fear that a pandemic with a death rate of far less than 1 percent can cause. Can you imagine what a pandemic with a death rate of “somewhere between 25 and 50 percent” would look like?

Welcome to the International Bird Flu Summit, where we address the pressing concerns surrounding the recent developments in avian influenza. With the emergence of a highly virulent strain of bird flu affecting both cattle and humans, it is imperative that we come together to discuss preparedness, response strategies, and the future implications of this evolving situation.

Why Finland and others are vaccinating people against bird flu
The virus is spreading undetected in mammals

Workers at poultry and fur farms in Finland will, in the coming days, receive vaccines against bird flu. Fourteen other eu countries have signed up to procure bird-flu vaccines through a programme set up by the European Commission. America’s government has also bought vaccines in anticipation of a pandemic. And it recently commissioned Moderna, a pharmaceutical company, to create an mrna bird-flu vaccine using a technology that was effective in protecting against covid-19. So why are countries vaccinating people against bird flu?

Huma Abedin is engaged to George Soros' son and heir Alex.

The Democratic insider, 47, and the younger Soros, 38, got engaged six weeks ago and were spotted recently celebrating in Italy, according to Page Six.

The couple confirmed their engagement on Instagram shortly after Page Six published their story, with Soros writing: 'this happened...we couldn't be happier, more grateful, or more in love.'

When he was named as his father's successor, he vowed that he would use 93-year-old George's fortune to finance progressive causes - including abortion rights and gender equality - telling the Wall Street Journal that he was 'more political' than George and planned to reflect that in his business dealings.

He launched the Alexander Soros Foundation in 2012 with the stated mission of promoting social justice and human rights, though it also focuses on environmentalism, education, and cultural causes.

Biden admin whistleblowers claim 'billions of taxpayer dollars' used by gov contractor to traffic children on the border

The Biden administration's Office of Refugee Resettlement failed to vet sponsors responsible for caring for unaccompanied children apprehended crossing the border, whistleblowers told Senators Tuesday, describing several cases of apparent human trafficking involving the minors and their sponsors.

"What I discovered was horrifying: children were being trafficked with billions of taxpayer dollars by a contractor failing to vet sponsors and process children safely, with government officials complicit in it," Deborah White, a federal employee detailed to the Department of Health and Human Services Office of Refugee Resettlement, ORR, told Republicans during a roundtable co-hosted by Sens. Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa), Bill Cassidy (R-La.) and Ron Johnson (R-Wis.).

JAG Convicts Arizona Sec. of State Adrian Fontes of Treason and Conspiracy to Carry Out Election Fraud

The U.S. Navy Judge Advocate General's Corps on Monday convicted Arizona Secretary of State Adrian Fontes of treason, election fraud, and defrauding the United States of America, sentencing the Deep Stater to death following Vice Admiral Darse E. Crandall's loquacious argument painting Fontes as a Democrat operative who revered the Biden regime and whose lust for power overshadowed his sworn responsibilities to the people of Arizona.

As reported previously, U.S. Marines in May arrested Fontes at his Phoenix residence in May based on a declaration of facts that said he was scheming to undercount or "trash" Republican votes for President Donald J. Trump in the 2024 presidential election, essentially an encore performance of what the late Katie Hobbs and her evil associates did four years earlier. Fontes' arrest also followed a video he created in which a Deep Fake facsimile of him warned Arizona Voters to be wary of Trump's people using Deep Fake/Artificial Intelligence to misrepresent Democrat values.

We Haven't Seen A "Historic Surge" Of Corporate Bankruptcies Like This Since The Great Recession

We continue to get numbers that indicate that the U.S. economy is steamrolling in the wrong direction as we approach the most chaotic election season in our history. Needless to say, the performance of the economy is going to play a major role in the outcome of the election, because millions upon millions of Americans are really suffering right now. Homelessness has been growing at the fastest pace ever recorded, hunger and poverty are exploding, and we are in the midst of a cost of living crisis that doesn't seem to have any end in sight. Unfortunately, there are signs that things will soon get even worse. For example, we experienced a “historic surge” of corporate bankruptcies during the first half of this year that was worse than anything we have witnessed since the first half of 2010

<https://protestia.substack.com/p/latest-he-gets-us-campaign-sees-theythems>

The “He Gets Us” campaign, a $100 million public relations initiative aimed at rebranding Jesus, has once again proven its penchant for theological folly. This latest installment features an ad proclaiming, “The one who identifies as they/them is your neighbor.” As chronicled at The Dissenter, this campaign persistently distorts Christian principles to fit a modern, leftist agenda—much to the chagrin of conservative Christians who uphold the authority of Scripture.

The ad attempts to exploit the biblical mandate to “love your neighbor as yourself” (Mark 12:31). This campaign, like much of the contemporary evangelical movement, grossly misrepresents what it means to love one’s neighbor. Biblically, to love your neighbor involves pointing them to the truth and leading them to repentance and faith rather than affirming them, or making them out to be victims of sin.

True Christ-like love does not simply accept and endorse sin but seeks the ultimate good of the neighbor, which is found in living according to God’s commandments and design.

ACLU Lawsuit Against Louisiana Inadvertently Draws More Public Attention To God’s Law

The ACLU, in wanting to sue the state of Louisiana, has done us a great favor. Their lawsuit was big news in the secular media, and so the Ten Commandments have been featured in many outlets, from Newsweek, Time magazine, USA Today, and the New York Times to CNN, MSNBC, NBC, ABC, and Fox. They’ve been featured on huge podcasts, on The View, and all throughout social media. Comedian Jimmy Kimmel even quoted all of the Ten Commandments to his massive viewing audience. You can’t buy that sort of publicity!
