Israel estimates Hezbollah will strike before Iran

Israel has reportedly warned Washington the killing of Israeli civilians by the Iranian proxy will cross a red line • Iran said to be reconsidering the level of its response to Hamas leader's killing in Tehran.

Israel remains on high alert for potential attacks by Iran and its regional terror proxies, with the security establishment assessing that Hezbollah will strike first.

Both the Islamic Republic and its Lebanese terror army have vowed revenge for the targeted killings last week of Hamas leader Ismail Haniyeh in Tehran and senior Hezbollah official Fuad Shukr in Beirut.

Israel's Channel 12 News reported on Wednesday that Hezbollah Secretary-General Hassan Nasrallah could see a window of opportunity to initiate an attack in the coming days. A large-scale intelligence effort is underway to identify the timing and nature of the response, according to the report.

Nasrallah said in a speech on Tuesday that the terror group will retaliate for the Shukr assassination. Several hours before the speech, Al Akhbar, a pro-Hezbollah newspaper in Beirut, published a front-page article suggesting that Hezbollah would likely target Tel Aviv.

Iran receiving Russian air defenses ahead of possible war with Israel, report says

Two Iranian officials confirmed that Iran made the request and Russia has started delivering radars and air-defense equipment, according to the Times, citing Iranian media.

The request came following a day-long visit to Tehran by head of the Russian Security Council and former Minister of Defense, Sergei Shoigu, on Monday.

Iran wants the air-defense systems in preparation for its promised revenge strike against Israel over the killing of Hamas political bureau chief Ismail Haniyeh in Tehran last Wednesday.

During a meeting with Iran's new president, Masoud Pezeshkian, Shoigu described Iran as a key strategic ally of Russia's in the region, according to Iran's Press TV.

"The Islamic Republic of Iran is in no way seeking to expand the scope of war and crisis in the region, but certainly this [Zionist] regime will receive a response for its crimes and audacity," Pezeshkian said, calling the assassination of Haniyeh a violation of international law.

Shoigu also met with Iranian armed forces commander, Brig. Gen. Mohammad Bagheri, who is reportedly planning the military strikes on Israel.

Bagheri told Shoigu that Russian-Iranian ties were "deep, long term and strategic" and would only expand under Iran's new government, according to the Times, citing Iranian media.

Iran and Russia have grown closer since the start of the Ukraine war, with Moscow turning to Tehran to provide it with military drones. Russia has launched more than 4,000 Iranian-designed Shahed attack drones against Ukraine, according to The Wall Street Journal in May.

Russia Claims Clashes with Ukrainian Forces on Russian Soil

The Russian Defense Ministry claimed on Tuesday that about 300 Ukrainian troops penetrated the border on a sabotage mission into Russia's Kursk region and engaged Russian forces near the border towns of Nikolaevo-Darino and Oleshnya.

The Defense Ministry said Russian "reserves" were "heading to the Kursk direction" to join the battle, which was ongoing as of Wednesday afternoon.

The Kyiv Independent on Tuesday quoted Russian and Ukrainian information officers vigorously accusing each other of lying about whatever was happening in Kursk:

Earlier in the day, Aleksey Smirnov, the governor of Russia's Kursk Oblast, claimed that Russian border guards "prevented a border breakthrough" in the Sudzhansky and Korenevsky districts.

Andrii Kovalenko, the head of an anti-disinformation department at the National Security and Defense Council, said that Russia "doesn't control the border."

"Russian military commanders lie about controlling the situation in Kursk Oblast," he wrote in the Telegram post.

Kursk Acting Governor Alexei Smirnov on Wednesday declared a state of emergency to "eliminate the consequences of enemy forces coming into the region."

Gen. Valery Gerasimov, the Russian military's chief of staff, reportedly informed President Vladimir Putin by video uplink on Wednesday that up to a thousand Ukrainian soldiers "went on the offensive" in Kursk. The Ukrainians were reportedly equipped with several dozen tanks and armored personnel carriers.

Putin angrily denounced the operation as a "major provocation" by Ukraine and accused the Ukrainians of "firing indiscriminately" at civilians. Russian officials claim Ukrainian shelling has injured 24 civilians, including six children.

The Russian Defense Ministry claimed on Wednesday that further advances by the Ukrainians have been thwarted, but “the operation for the destruction of Ukrainian army units” could take a while longer to complete.

The Ukrainians countered by claiming they have seized control of the Sudzha natural gas hub in Kursk – a significant strategic target, since it is the only way for Russia to pump natural gas to customers in the European Union.

GOING CARACAS Venezuela on brink of civil war after BOTH Putin’s pal Maduro & opposition leader declare victory in tinderbox election
The opposition asked the army to respect the 'will of the people'

VENEZUELA is on the brink of civil war after both Vladimir Putin's pal Nicolas Maduro and the opposition declared victory.

The tinderbox election has seen autocrat Maduro threaten a "bloodbath" if he loses the standoff.

Official results said Maduro, 61, had claimed 51.2 per cent of the vote, while while opposition candidate Edmundo Gonzalez, 74, received 44.2 per cent of the vote.

But the Venezuelan opposition has also claimed victory with their presidential candidate Gonzalez receiving 70 per cent of the vote in their own tabulation.

Maduro controls the ballot process through cronies and has been accused by the opposition of rigging the vote.

Marxist Maduro has blasted them back, saying it was the "extreme right" opposition who had committed "fraud".

He threatened "justice" for those who challenge the results, telling cheering supporters in Caracas late Sunday night: “They are ugly faces. The gorgeous ones are the people who are here and noble.”

Maduro also accused, without evidence, foreign enemies of trying to hack the voting system of the South American country.

But Gonzalez claimed the opposition was kept from scrutinising results and said they "knew what happened".

He said: "All rules and norms were violated to an extent that we were denied seeing most of the ballots.

Neighbour Colombia called for a total count and an independent audit of votes.

Chilean President Gabriel Boric says the results are "hard to believe" and they will not "will not recognise any result that is not verifiable".

Costa Rican President Rodrigo Chaves rejected the results outright and said they considered them "fraud".

While Guatemalan President Bernardo Arevalo said they had "many doubts" about the results.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken said the results were not accurate, while on a visit to Japan.

He said: "We have serious concerns that the result announced does not reflect the will or the votes of the Venezuelan people."

China, Cuba, Honduras, and Bolivia have backed the autocrat and sent Maduro their congratulations.

Vladimir Putin also congratulated his pal saying: "Remember that you are always a welcome guest on Russian soil."

Maduro faced a crisis following his last election win in 2018 - which was widely accepted as being fraudulent.

Hindu Homes and Temples Vandalized in Bangladesh After Prime Minister's Ouster

The Bangladeshi Hindu Buddhist Christian Unity Council (BHBCUC) said on Tuesday that hundreds of Hindu homes, businesses, and temples have been vandalized since Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina was forced out of office by protesters over the weekend.

Hasina ended a 15-year run as prime minister on Monday by resigning and fleeing the country while protesters stormed her residence in the national capital of Dhaka. She has taken refuge in Hindu-majority India.

Indian intelligence officials said on Tuesday they believe the protests, which were ostensibly about the quota system for government jobs in Bangladesh, were orchestrated by China and Pakistan to install a government more amenable to China's ambitions, and more hostile to India.

These Indian officials accused Pakistan's infamous ISI intelligence service of working with Islamist groups in Bangladesh, which is about 90 percent Muslim. Islam is the state religion of Bangladesh, which broke away from Pakistan in a revolutionary war in 1971.

Anti-Immigration Protests In UK Spreads As Elon Musk Warns "Civil War Is Inevitable"

European countries on the front lines, such as Greece and Italy, have been overwhelmed with migrants over the years due to failed open-border policies facilitated by radical leftist politicians. These unaccountable leaders (elected & unelected) have created the perfect storm of migrant crime and chaos across the continent.

For readers, who are not caught up with the news cycle, anti-immigration demonstrations have erupted across the UK following the horrific stabbing of three children in Southport by the 17-year-old son of Rwandan immigrants.

Now weekend anti-immigration demonstrations were seen in Liverpool, Bristol, Manchester, Hull, Belfast, Stoke, and other cities. Some turned violent while others did not.

Citizens are enraged with progressive officials who have promoted open borders, leading to an influx of migrants. This has resulted in increased crime and chaos and has adversely affected working-class families by pushing down wages for low-skilled jobs.

The Guardian quoted protesters on Saturday as chanting, “Get them out” and “Yorkshire.”

In the southwest city of Bristol, folks shouted, “We want our country back,” while others yelled, “England ’til I die.” There were small pockets of counter-protesters who called anti-immigration protesters ‘racist’.

It seems that the working-class people in the West are beginning to speak up. After all, Christianity played a major role in the development of Western civilization.

On Sunday, Policing and Crime Minister Diana Johnson told Sky News that unrest is viewed as “criminal disorder” and that people participating were “thugs.” She said some protesters may face “imprisonment.”

Folks are not happy about the two-tier judicial system. Where have we seen this before?

‘God Wins In The End’: 89-Year-Old Pro-Life Activist Speaks Out Ahead Of ‘High Stakes’ Trial

Eva Edl faces more than 10 years in prison and hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines

Eva Edl, an 89-year-old survivor of a communist concentration camp, could face over a decade in prison if convicted this week on federal conspiracy charges over her participation in several pro-life protests at two Michigan abortion facilities. Edl, a devout Christian who was imprisoned in Yugoslavia in the 1940s, was accused by the Biden administration in February 2023 of conspiring to deny patrons of an abortion clinic their constitutional rights. Edl was one of several participants in peaceful protests at two Michigan abortion facilities in 2020 and 2021. Jury selection for the trial for Edl and six co-defendants began Tuesday at the Theodore Levin courthouse in Detroit.

Her co-defendants also charged in the conspiracy are Cal Zastrow, Chester Gallagher, Heather Itoni, Joel Curry, Justin Phillips, and Eva Zastrow.

Edl and her co-defendants are also charged with violating the FACE Act, a Clinton-era law guaranteeing entry to abortion facilities. The conspiracy charge could land each of them in federal prison for up to 10.5 years and hundreds of thousands of dollars in fines.

The cybernetic laboratories on the Mars bases of the planetary corporations produce enhanced half-human cyborg soldiers and scouts to sell as part of the slave organization to other alien species, who use them to create medical vaccines to stop diseases and stop the aging process.

In return, they receive technology that is hundreds of years ahead of their own and that they can use to build better ships, colony facilities, various space station weapons, healing medical tanks, etc., as well as the rights to further trade routes in space and access to planets on which they can build their colonies.

The PLC laboratories use both living and dead body parts for the purpose of reuse to fuse cybernetic technology with human body parts.

WHO Triggers Emergency Use Listing for Monkeypox Vaccines

The WHO today triggered the process to grant Emergency Use Listing to two monkeypox vaccines. WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus told the media the listing will accelerate vaccine access in lower-income countries that have not yet approved the drugs.

The World Health Organization (WHO) today triggered the process to grant Emergency Use Listing to two monkeypox vaccines.

WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus told the media the listing will accelerate vaccine access in lower-income countries that have not yet approved the drugs.

“Emergency Use Listing also enables partners including Gavi and UNICEF to procure vaccines for distribution,” Tedros said. He also said he would convene an expert group to determine if the spread of monkeypox — renamed mpox — in Africa should be declared a global emergency.

Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance and UNICEF are funded in part by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

Latest Treatment for Eating Disorders: Assisted Suicide

Eating disorders (EDs), while horrific and sometimes life-threatening, are usually treatable. Killing someone with an ED, on the other hand, is not. And as the legal boundaries for assisted suicide expand, patients with EDs are increasingly being killed rather than treated, a new study has found.

Published July 30 in Frontiers in Psychiatry, it claims to be “the first study to systematically review all known cases of assisted dying in patients with eating disorders across both peer-reviewed studies and official government reports.”

That turned out to be a daunting task because there are “considerable gaps in the reporting of assisted death in patients with psychiatric conditions, posing substantial concerns about oversight and public safety,” wrote Chelsea Roff, executive director of the ED recovery-support organization Eat Breathe Thrive, and Catherine Cook-Cottone, a professor at the University at Buffalo who treats patients with EDs.

“In many cases,” they continued, “the clinical rationales that were used to affirm patients with EDs were eligible for assisted death lack validity and do not cohere with empirical understanding.”

Tim Walz’s Church Doesn’t Like To Call God ‘Him,’ Supports Reparations And Pride Parades

Democratic vice presidential candidate Tim Walz attends a church that preaches beliefs related to gender, race and sexuality that many Christian denominations strongly oppose.

Walz, who is the governor of Minnesota, identified Pilgrim Lutheran Church in St. Paul as his parish during a 2020 briefing on the COVID-19 pandemic. Materials published by Pilgrim Lutheran Church instruct parishioners not to refer to God using male pronouns, push congregants to support reparation funds, encourage them to celebrate Ramadan and include a modified gender-neutral version of the Lord's Prayer, among other liberal practices.

7 Things You Should Know About Kamala Harris's VP Pick, Tim Walz

#1 In 2020, Walz presided over the BLM riots that resulted in large portions of Minneapolis being burned to the ground...

#2 Minnesota became a "sanctuary state" under Walz, and he has made sure that migrants are eligible for all sorts of free goodies...

#3 Minnesota also became a "trans refuge" state under Walz...

#4 The bill that Walz signed into law in April 2023 also allows Minnesota authorities to take children from any parents that try to prevent their kids from getting sex change surgeries

#5 It is being alleged that Walz quit the National Guard after he learned that his unit would be deployed to Iraq...

#6 Many people don't realize this, but Walz actually considers himself to be a Lutheran...

#7 It turns out that Walz has a very long history of being close to China...

Walz, 60, went to China straight after college through a program set up by Harvard University and taught in Guangdong province, shortly after the Tiananmen Square massacre in Beijing in 1989.

He would later honeymoon in China with his wife Gwen, bringing a group of 60 young people with them

In the 1990s the couple set up a business which took high school students to China every summer for around a decade.

Walz has been to China dozens of times, including on trade missions, and has called his experiences there 'amazing'.

The Harris/Walz ticket is the most liberal presidential ticket that we have ever seen.

Israeli Group Practices Red Heifer Ritual In Front Of Al-Aqsa Mosque

A group of religious Israelis have been pictured practicing the ritual of the red heifer, which is meant to herald the building of a new Jewish temple on the site of Al-Aqsa Mosque.

According to Jewish tradition, the ashes of a perfectly red heifer cow are needed for the ritual purification that would allow a third temple to be built in Jerusalem. That temple, say radical Jewish groups, must be constructed on the raised plateau in Jerusalem's Old City known as the Temple Mount, where Al-Aqsa Mosque and the Dome of the Rock shrine stand today.

Some believe this will herald the arrival of the messiah and possibly even the end of the world.

"Temple worshipers are now practicing the mitzvah [religious duty] of a red cow in front of the Temple Mount, which will enable the return of purity and the observance of all the temple mitzvahs," posted journalist Yinon Magal on Tuesday, along with a picture of activists from the Temple Institute.

In 2022, five red heifers arrived in Israel from a Texas ranch and are now kept in an archaeological park next to Shilo, an illegal Israeli settlement near the Palestinian city of Nablus.

The Temple Institute imported the heifers for the eventual purpose of using them in a ritual after years of searching for blemish-free cows, without a stray white or black hair.

Their eventual slaughter on the Mount of Olives will - according to advocates - allow Jewish people to be purified so they can perform rites and worship on the site of Al-Aqsa Mosque.

Research by a professor at Bar Ilan University estimated that the ashes of one cow could be made into enough cleansing water for 660 billion purifications. The cow being practiced upon in Magal's image (below) does not appear to be one of the five red heifers from Shilo.

The traditional site of the ritual, the Mount of Olives, is seen in the background on the other side of Al-Aqsa Mosque, suggesting the practice run was performed within the Old City.

The Chief Rabbinate of Jerusalem has also, since 1921, officially banned Jews from entering the Temple Mount. It ruled that Jews are forbidden to enter the site unless "ritually clean", which is impossible without the ashes of a red heifer.

Over the past century, religious Zionist groups - including the Temple Institute - have advocated for the return of Jewish prayer at Al-Aqsa, with some even advocating the demolition of the mosque and reconstruction of the temple.
