The WEF/WHO Says “Here Comes Disease X”

January 15-19, 2024, global leaders met at the World Economic Forum’s (WEF) Davos summit where the key topic of discussion was “Preparing for Disease X,”¹ a hypothetical new pandemic predicted to emerge in 2025 and kill 20 times more people than COVID-19.² As reported by the Mirror:³

“The World Health Organization (WHO) has warned of a potential Disease X since 2017, a term indicating an unknown pathogen that could cause a serious international epidemic ...

Public speakers at the ‘Preparing for Disease X’ event next Wednesday [January 17, 2024] include Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, director-general of the WHO, Brazilian minister of health Nisia Trindade Lima, and Michel Demaré, chair of the board at AstraZeneca.

In their first post-pandemic meeting held in November 2022, the WHO brought over 300 scientists to consider which of over 25 virus families and bacteria could potentially create another pandemic.

The list the team came up with included: the Ebola virus, the Marburg virus disease, Covid-19, SARS, and the Middle East respiratory syndrome coronavirus (MERS-CoV). Others included lassa fever, nipah and henipaviral diseases, zika Valley fever, and zika — as well as the unknown pathogen that would cause ‘Disease X.’”

Bill Gates At Davos 2024 Says That The New Era Of AI Vaccines Will Include His Human Implantable Quantum Dot Microneedle Delivery System ‘Patch’

When Bill Gates says he has a new vaccine ‘patch’, he is actually talking about his human implantable quantum dot microneedle vaccine delivery system. Back in April of 2020, we warned of a new ‘innovation’ that Bill Gates was furiously funding to bring to market, a human implantable quantum dot microneedle vaccine delivery system, and yes, it’s as terrifying as it sounds. It’s a vaccine technology that uses a tattoo-like mechanism which injects invisible quantum dot nanoparticles under the skin, when Bill Gates speaks of it he calls it a ‘patch’. At Davos yesterday he told CNBC that the ‘patch’ is almost ready, just waiting for AI to catch up to make it all work.

Getting back to Davos, Gates said this about the new era of vaccines that are coming soon. Gates said that “COVID vaccines need to have longer duration, more coverage, and we’re going to change. Instead of using needles, we’ll use a little patch.” That ‘patch’ is the human implantable quantum dot microneedle vaccine delivery system we warned about 4 years ago. Not only that, Bill Gates went on to say that India would be the place where this ‘innovation’ would be rolled out from. Why India? Glad you asked!

In January 2021, several WEF partners, including Bill Gates and Microsoft, Oracle, Salesforce, and several other “heavyweights,” announced a partnership to launch the Vaccine Credential Initiative (VCI) to develop digital immunization authentication tools, according to Forbes. Aiming to institute a single “SMART Health Card” for the world, the VCI intends for its SMART Health Cards to be recognized “across organizational and jurisdictional boundaries.” The entire operation runs on the Aadhaar biometric digital ID program. Now you know why India has been selected.

China continues experiments with 'lethal' COVID strain; experts raise alarm: ‘This madness must be...’

Scientists in China have recently conducted experiments on a novel coronavirus strain, GX_P2V. It resulted in a 100% fatality rate in genetically-modified mice. This strain is a mutation of GX/2017, a virus initially identified in Malaysian pangolins in 2017.

The study, originating from Beijing, notes the swift and lethal impact of GX_P2V on mice with human-like genetic structures. The virus, targetting multiple organs including the brain, led to rapid deterioration in the mice's condition, culminating in death within eight days.

The mice got very sick quickly. They lost a lot of weight, couldn't move well, and their eyes turned white before they died. This study is different because all the mice died, which is more than what happened in other studies about similar viruses.

This study is separate from the research in Wuhan, which was linked to different ideas about where COVID-19 came from. The origin of COVID-19 is still not known. The new study in China raises questions about doing risky experiments with viruses.

NIH Bankrolled Chinese Scientist Who Mapped SARS-CoV-2 Two Weeks Before China Told World About COVID

A Chinese researcher with ties to China's government and military — and to Dr. Anthony Fauci — mapped the genetic sequence of SARS-CoV-2 and submitted it to a U.S. government database in December 2019, two weeks before the virus' sequence was officially revealed.

The delay may have worsened the severity of the COVID-19 pandemic, some experts said.

The revelations arise from documents the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) provided to the U.S. House of Representatives Energy & Commerce Committee last month as part of an ongoing investigation into the origins of COVID-19. The Wall Street Journal (WSJ) first reported the story on Jan. 17.

The researcher, Dr. Lili Ren, is affiliated with the Institute of Pathogen Biology in Beijing which, according to a statement by the committee, has ties to the Chinese Community Party (CCP) and the People's Liberation Army of China.

According to the WSJ, the institute is part of the state-affiliated Chinese Academy of Medical Sciences.

The documents show that Ren was on the payroll of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the agency overseeing the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), directed at the time by Fauci.

“The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has confirmed that Dr. Ren’s December 28, 2019 sequence was nearly identical to the sequence later made public by the China CDC on January 10, 2020, which at the time was the first known sequence,” the committee said in its statement.

The documents raise “questions anew about what China knew in the pandemic’s crucial early days,” the WSJ said.

EXCLUSIVE: House Republicans Introduce Legislation To Defund World Economic Forum

A group of House Republicans, led by Pennsylvania Rep. Scott Perry, introduced legislation Thursday to defund the World Economic Forum (WEF).

The Daily Caller first obtained a copy of the bill, which is titled the Defund Davos Act. The legislation would specifically block the State Department, USAID, and any other federal agency from providing funding to the (WEF). The U.S. has spent millions on the WEF over the years, something Perry and other GOP lawmakers say needs to end.

“Forcing American Taxpayers to fund annual ski trips for insular, global elitists is absurd – not to mention reprehensible,” Perry told the Caller before introducing the bill. “The World Economic Forum doesn’t deserve one cent of American funding, and it’s past time we defund Davos.”

Elections will soon be a quaint relec of the past, says globalist Klaus Schwab, who points to AI as the coming King of Democracy

World Economic Forum founder and chairman Klaus Schwab showed his true Nazi colors today at Davos, saying that nations will soon no longer need to bother holding “elections” because voters could easily be replaced by artificial intelligence.

AI is more than capable of choosing a nation’s leaders, he said.

Schwab made the bone-chilling comments during a WEF interview with Google co-founder Sergey Brin, which was posted to X by Ezra Levant of Rebel News. Watch this astonishing exchange below:

Klaus Schwab suggests thst AI replace democratic elections. His father, the Nazi industrialist Eugen Schwab, would be proud.

This is one of the things we’ll ask World Economic Forum VVIPs about this week.

Physicians org disbars Canadian doctor for three months after ‘misgendering’ a biological woman

The Quebec College of Physicians upheld a decision that a Montreal physician had an 'inappropriate and disrespectful attitude' toward a transgender patient when referring to her as a biological woman during a doctor's visit in May 2022.

A Canadian doctor has been banned from practicing medicine for three months for telling the truth about basic biology regarding a patient’s birth sex after the Quebec

College of Physicians disbarred him for what they claimed was him misgendering a biological woman transgender patient who wanted testosterone injections.

Trudeau's Orwellian Attack On Canadian Truckers Declared Unconstitutional

Canada's Federal Court ruled on Tuesday that Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's use of the Emergencies Act in 2022 to punish protesting truckers was both unreasonable and unconstitutional.

"I have concluded that the decision to issue the Proclamation does not bear the hallmarks of reasonableness — justification, transparency and intelligibility — and was not justified in relation to the relevant factual and legal constraints that were required to be taken into consideration," wrote Justice Richard G. Mosley in his ruling.

Amazon Prime rolls out cartoon sympathetic to Lucifer, depicting God's angels as 'heartless'

Amazon Prime prompted backlash on social media for rolling out a trailer for a new animated series that suggests the angels of God are "heartless" while sympathetically portraying demons, Lucifer and his mythological lover Lilith.

"Heaven and hell like you've never seen them before," Amazon Prime tweeted last week. "Here is the opening scene of #HazbinHotel, premiering Friday on Prime Video."

The trailer for "Hazbin Hotel," which depicts heavenly angels as the many-eyed, wheel-like beings in the Book of Ezekiel, describes Lucifer as "a dreamer with fantastical ideas for all of creation."

"But he was seen as a troublemaker by the elders of Heaven, for they felt his way of thinking was dangerous to the order of their world," the opening scene continues, which goes on to reference Lilith.

Lilith is a female demonic figure that features in Jewish folklore, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Her name and personality are believed to have emerged from traditions regarding Mesopotamian demons, and some rabbinic literature depicts Lilith as the mother of Adam's demonic offspring.

Lilith fled the Garden of Eden after refusing to submit to her husband, after which God created Eve, according to the folklore.

Building on this mythology, the opening scene to "Hazbin Hotel" suggests that Lilith and Lucifer fell in love after she fled Eden and that the two were behind the temptation to eat the forbidden fruit because they wished "to share the magic of Free Will with humanity, offering the fruit of knowledge to Adam's new bride Eve, who gladly accepted."

For their act, Lucifer was cast into "the Dark Pit," where he was not allowed to see "the good that came from humanity," though Lilith "thrived, empowering humankind with her voice and her songs," the show continued.

The clip closed by suggesting that Heaven was "threatened" by the growing power of Hell, leading its forces to make the annual "heartless decision" to send an exterminating army "to ensure Hell and sinners could never rise against them."

‘Jeza’s Jesus Juice: A Drag Queen’s Christian Devotional’?

In what could only be described as nightmare fuel fit for excrement expunging, Drag Queen performer Jeza Belle, author of The Harlot’s Guide to Classy Cocktails, and owner of several social media sites containing salacious amounts of nudity, has released a devotional aimed at.....Christians?

Titled Jeza's Jesus Juice: A Drag Queen's Christian Devotional, the book was released a few short weeks ago and the promo describes it as a "rare safe space for those who are committed to their faith but do not know where to go to deepen it" by serving as a place for those searching for meaning in Christianity that does not negate their queer identity."

Noting in the preface that the book will be "peppered with some salty "language" and "spicy content, this devotional "provides personal stories, biblical apologetics, and damning indictments of today's evangelical movement, all served up frothy over ice by one of America's premier and unique drag talents."

Despite pushback, Rocklin boutique plans to go ahead with fashion show featuring a drag queen

The owner of a Rocklin boutique is defending its upcoming fashion show that will be hosted by Sacramento drag queen A La Mode.

The owner of a Rocklin boutique is defending its upcoming fashion show.

The show is being organized to celebrate Wildflower Daydreams Boutique's third anniversary and will be hosted by Sacramento drag queen A La Mode.

"There have been false claims that this a drag show targeted at children. There have been claims that we're raising funds for ANTIFA," said owner Michelle Honath Tuesday. "It is a fashion show targeted towards adults."

Honath said that while A La Mode will give a performance, the focus of the event is a celebration of the business and that the event will be family-friendly for those who choose to bring their children.

"My goal was to make this event inclusive because I feel like there are not enough inclusive spaces in Rocklin," she said. "I really wanted everyone in the community to feel welcome."

Opponents of the event attended Tuesday's city council meeting, encouraging the council to stop the event and expressing concern the event would be held in a city-owned venue.

"We're standing. We're raising our voice. We're being heard and we're hoping our city council hears us," said Matthew Oliver of Rocklin, a pastor at The Family Church in Roseville. "Drag shows are sexual in nature and they're not for kids."

Oliver and other opponents of the event held signs against the show, with some speaking during the public comment portion of the meeting.

Oliver said he is specifically concerned with the fact that the event is open to all ages and is being held at the Rocklin Event Center.

"What you do in your own home, what you do in a private event, a private function. What you do as an 18+ event and function, that's not an issue here. The issue is when we start bringing in kids," Oliver said.

Democrats' Sweeping IVF Bill Aims To Stifle Regulation Of Unchecked Big Fertility Market

Democrats who want to stifle oversight and regulation of Big Fertility introduced legislation this month to protect the multi-billion-dollar assisted reproductive technology (ART) industry and punish states and health institutions that try to limit third-party child manufacturing.

Democrats Sen. Tammy Duckworth, Sen. Patty Murray, and Rep. Susan Wild introduced the "Access To Family Building Act" (AFBA) under the guise of protecting in vitro fertilization (IVF) for hopeful parents. In reality, the legislation seeks to ensure the unlimited creation and destruction of healthy eggs, sperm, and — most importantly — embryos in all 50 states by punishing any entity that tries to "unduly restrict access" to a range of reproductive technologies.

Duckworth's bill refuses to specifically define ART. Instead, it points to Section 8 of the 1992 Fertility Clinic Success Rate and Certification Act (FCSRCA). which lists "all treatments or procedures" that include eggs, sperm, and embryos; IVF; and surgical reproduction procedures like gamete and zygote intrafallopian transfer (GIFT and ZIFT) as eligible for protection under the Democrats' latest legislation.

The FCSRCA also includes a provision empowering the U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services to expand the definition of ART to "such other specific technologies" as long as he publicizes his intent "in such manner as to facilitate comment from any person (including any Federal or other public agency)."

The sweeping and subjective categorizations in the FCSRCA mean that while manufacturing lifelong motherless and fatherless children, surrogacy, and experimental transhumanist technologies like artificial wombs, "gene editing," and sidelining women in reproduction are not explicitly mentioned in Duckworth's bill, they could easily be construed to fit within the parameters of protection.

If passed, Duckworth's bill would permit individuals and Big Fertility facilities to sue if any state moves to impose even globally accepted common sense limits on procedures like IVF, surrogacy, and oocyte sales. It would also give President Joe Biden's Department of Justice the justification to pursue action against any state, facility, or individual that tries to limit or regulate the use of past, present, and future babymaking tech.

Male, 50, identifies as 15-yr-old female, allowed on girls' swim team, changes in locker rooms with teens

Outrage is brewing over reports that a 50-year-old Canadian man is being allowed to change, shower, and compete with girls.

Why is Nicholas J. Cepeda, who goes by “Melody Wiseheart” and is a York University professor of behavioral science, being allowed to compete against 13- and 14-year-old girls? Because he identifies as a teen girl himself.

Cepeda first made headlines in October when he competed against teen girls in the Richmond Hill Aquatic Centre’s Fall Classic swimming competition at the Markham Pan Am Centre in Unionville, Ontario.

AXIS OF EVIL Kim Jong-un & Putin vow to form ‘New World Order’ in chilling warning to West as tyrants ramp up united front against US

The North Korean Foreign Ministry said in a statement that the two countries agreed to further strategic and tactical cooperation to defend their core interests and establish a “new multi-polarised international order”.

The government body also highlighted Putin’s intent for a visit Pyongyang, saying that could come at an "early date".

It followed North Korean foreign minister Choe Son Hui’s meetings with the Russian president and Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov in Moscow last week.

North Korea has been aggressively tightening ties with Russia especially after Kim Jong-un's September visit to Russia for a summit with Putin.

One of the few world leaders openly supporting Putin's war on Ukraine, the North Korean tyrant is attempting to break out of diplomatic isolation.

‘No cash accepted’ signs are bad news for millions of Americans

How many people don’t have a bank account? And just how difficult has it become to live without one?

These questions are becoming increasingly important as more businesses refuse to take cash in cities across the U.S. People without bank accounts are shut out from stores and restaurants that refuse to accept cash.

As it happens, a lot of people are still “unbanked”: roughly 6 million in the U.S., the latest data shows, which is about the population of Wisconsin. And outside of the U.S., more than a billion people don’t have a bank account.

I am a business school professor who researches society’s transition from cash to electronic payments. I recently visited Seattle and was amazed by the mixed signals I saw in many storefronts. Numerous shops had one sign proudly proclaiming how welcoming and inclusive they were — next to another sign saying “No cash accepted.” This tells people without bank accounts that they aren’t welcome.
