Columbia University student demonstrator taken away on stretcher as anti-Israel protests rage on,” by Steven Vago and Patrick Reilly, New York Post, April 20, 2024:

...Two days after more than 100 students were arrested when the NYPD raided the tent encampment on the Ivy League campus, roughly 200 demonstrators were still going strong on Saturday, chanting, holding signs and waving Palestinian flags.

At least three people were arrested, the NYPD confirmed. Two were cuffed for disorderly conduct and a third was slapped with a summonses for a sound reproduction device.

“Up, up with liberation. Down, down with occupation,” they yelled through the locked campus gate on W. 115th and Broadway....

“We want justice, you say how? Stop arming Israel now!” another group chanted.

The students are demanding the university divest from Israel.

“We demand that Columbia sever academic ties with Israeli universities and we demand that Columbia stop censoring and intimidating students who are standing up and advocating for Palestinian liberation,” one student yelled through the gate to the crowd that had gathered on the other side outside of campus.

Anti-Israel protesters armed with flares marched toward NYPD headquarters late Monday after the number of students arrested at NYU reportedly rose to over 130.

Videos of Monday night's protests show demonstrators holding bright flares over their heads while marching toward One Police Plaza while others waved flags, banged drums and chanted, "Gaza."

Other clips show NYPD officers in riot gear monitoring protesters who chant, "We will free Palestine, within our lifetime."

By late Monday, 133 protesters had been arrested as the NYU camp was broken up, with some of those busted also part of the march, the NYPD said Tuesday.

Gov. Gavin Newsom wants to allow Arizona doctors to provide abortions in California

Arizona doctors could give their patients abortions in California under a proposal announced Wednesday by Gov. Gavin Newsom to circumvent a ban on nearly all abortions in that state.

It would apply only to doctors licensed in good standing in Arizona and their patients, and last only through the end of November. Arizona's 1864 law banning nearly all abortions except if the mother's life is in jeopardy takes effect June 8.

UPDATE: Arizona House votes to repeal 1864 abortion law, measure now heads to the state Senate

"Arizona Republicans continue to put women in danger—embracing a draconian law passed when Arizona was a territory, not even a state," Newsom said in a statement. "California will not sit idly by."

Besides Arizona, 14 other states have banned abortion at all stages of pregnancy. While abortion access in California has never been under serious threat, Newsom — widely seen as a potential presidential candidate beyond 2024 — has made defending that access a priority of his administration.

Biden Angers Catholics With Sacrilegious Motion, Gross Comment About the Bible at FL Abortion Rally

Joe Biden is fond of saying that he's Catholic and he frequently attends mass.

But that doesn't seem to have taught him much in terms of the Church's theology. Usually, I wouldn't talk much about anyone's religious belief except for the fact that he's constantly pushing his "devoutness" -- while lying and promoting abortion, which is against basic Church teaching.

But what Biden did in Florida during the rally is now making a lot of waves with Catholics, and they vote too in Florida. Many are calling what he did offensive and/or sacrilegious. Catholic Vote reported that Biden made a Sign of the Cross while promoting abortion and while criticizing Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis for pushing for more restrictions on abortion.

Biden won Arizona by more than 10,000 votes

An Arizona grand jury has indicted former Donald Trump chief of staff Mark Meadows and lawyer Rudy Giuliani along with 16 others in an election interference case.

The indictment released Wednesday names 11 Republicans who submitted a document to Congress falsely declaring that Donald Trump beat Joe Biden in Arizona in the 2020 presidential election. It shows seven other defendants whose names were not immediately released because they had not yet been served with the charges.

Total Surrender: Johnson's Ukraine Aid Package Allows Biden to Forgive 50% of "Loans" on November 15 and 100% of "Loans" to Ukraine Later On

In the last month, Republicans under Speaker Mike Johnson's leadership have given up a $1.2 trillion spending bill with more support from Democrats than Republicans, reauthorization for warrantless searches of Americans under FISA Section 702, and now this.

The Gateway Pundit reported on Wednesday that Joe Biden, the Democrats, House Speaker Mike Johnson, and the RINOs are colluding on an aid package for Ukraine, which may upset plans by some Republican lawmakers to remove Johnson from the Speaker's chair.

On Tuesday, The Gateway Pundit reported that Johnson was negotiating with the Biden regime to introduce a substantial funding package for foreign conflicts and whip up opposition from the Democrats to a Motion to Vacate against him.

The $95 billion package provides an additional “$60.84 billion to address the conflict in Ukraine and assist our regional partners as they counter Russia, $23.2 billion of which will be used for replenishment of U.S. weapons, stocks, and facilities.” It also provides aid to both Israel and, reportedly, Gaza and other conflict zones around the world. “I will sign this into law immediately to send a message to the world,” said Joe Biden in a statement urging Democrats in the House and the Democrat-controlled Senate to pass the un-American legislation.

This legislation includes a loan structure, which comes after Mike Johnson spoke at a press conference with President Trump at the Mar a Lago on April 12. The President expressed his desire to make the funding “in the form of a loan” and stop “handing out gifts.”

According to a source with knowledge about the press conference, Mike Johnson went to the Mar a Lago to speak with President Trump about a variety of issues critical to the GOP and to show unity within the party. Johnson originally hoped to cover support for his Ukraine aid package in the press conference, though after what appeared to be a lack of enthusiasm, the topic shifted to election integrity efforts. During the conference, a reporter asked Trump whether he would support a Ukrainian aid bill if the Speaker moved forward with it.

Senate passes bill renewing key FISA surveillance power moments after it expires
The bill now goes to President Joe Biden, whose administration says FISA's warrantless spying power is vital to national security. Amendments to expand privacy safeguards failed.

The Senate voted to reauthorize a powerful surveillance tool the U.S. government describes as critical to combating terrorism, after defeating efforts by civil liberties advocates on the left and right to rein it in.

The vote of 60-34 sends the bill to President Joe Biden, who has championed it. The legislation extends Section 702 of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act, or FISA, for two more years.

The final vote came after the Senate defeated six amendments from progressive and conservative senators who said the spying powers are too broad and demanded protections for Americans' civil liberties and privacy. The Biden administration and FISA supporters had warned that even a brief lapse could have a detrimental impact on the intelligence-gathering process.

Senators just missed the midnight deadline to reauthorize the FISA Section 702 statute but voted to reauthorize it minutes later. Had any amendments been adopted, the bill would have been sent back to the House, potentially forcing a lengthy lapse of the law.

"In the nick of time, bipartisanship has prevailed here in the Senate," Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer, D-N.Y., said.

"It wasn't easy, people had many different views, but we all know one thing: letting FISA expire would have been dangerous. It's an important part of our national security to stop acts of terror, drug trafficking, and violent extremism," Schumer said on the Senate floor. "Thank you to all my Senate colleagues on both sides of the aisle for their good work in getting this done."

A fire has broken out at a military plant in the US city of Scranton, Pennsylvania, that has been producing munitions, including artillery and mortar shells for supply to Ukraine, Sputnik quoted US media reports on Tuesday.

The major fire broke out at the ammunition plant at around GMT1900 on Monday, the Atlas News reported, citing spokesperson for US defence corporation General Dynamics and eyewitnesses. The eyewitnesses also shared videos and photos showing dark smoke coming from the plant's pipes.

General Dynamics, which owns the facility, told Atlas News that the fire was soon extinguished without any casualties.

The plant is one of seven production arsenals manufacturing military munitions for the US army, including large-calibre metal projectiles and mortar shells, such as the 155 mm calibre projectiles, the report said.

The Scranton plant has been specially modernised to produce shells for Ukraine, US magazine National Defense reported. Before the Ukraine conflict, the factory produced an average of 7,000 artillery shells per month, while now it is expected to manufacture as many as 35,000 artillery shells per month by 2027, the report said.

António Guterres calls for UN to have the power to declare a crisis and dictate the response worldwide

Newman explains: “The bigger story here that people are not paying attention to is the UN is coming together in September ... and they are having ‘The Summit of the Future’. They are telling us they are going to bring out radical drastic reforms in the structure of the UN ... and the power of the UN.

“Think of it as the biggest power grab ever at the global level. The Secretary General of the UN (António Guterres) has put out briefs where he is calling for the UN to be the one world global dictatorship with him at the helm.

“In emergencies, the UN would have all power in emergencies and have all power to oversee emergency response ... They say the crisis could be a climate crisis, an economic crisis, environmental crisis, pandemic crisis, black swan crisis or maybe something from outer space.

“So, basically, anything could be a crisis, and when the Secretary-General declares a crisis, all power and authority would go to the UN. This is like a blank check on the wealth and liberty on every person on the planet, and this is coming soon. It is eminent. This is coming in September at the UN, and it is a power grab of historic proportions. They know their time is short, and they are going for the big enchilada here. This is really a summit for a tyrannical future ... They want control of every aspect of your life.”

15 State Officials Warn Bank Of America About 'De-Banking' Of Christians

A group of 15 financial officials from 13 states sent a notice to Bank of America, raising concerns about the institution’s “de-banking” of Christians.

“We write to express our concerns over Bank of America’s troubling track record of politicized de-banking. Bank of America’s de-banking policies and practices threaten the company’s financial health, its reputation with customers, our nation’s economy, and the civil liberties of everyday Americans,” the officials wrote in an April 18 letter to Bank of America CEO Brian Moynihan.

“We are especially troubled by Bank of America’s track record of discriminating against religious ministries. Notable examples include Memphis-based charity Indigenous Advance Ministries, the Timothy Two Project, and Christian author and speaker Lance Wallnau.”

Bank of America provided “vague reasons” for the closure of these accounts, claiming the organization’s activities exceeded the institution’s “risk tolerance” and that it no longer wanted to serve its “business type.”

“Months later—after being confronted by an international media organization—the bank then claimed that it closed the accounts because the for-profit business engaged in ‘debt collection.’ Neither Indigenous Advance Ministries nor the church collect debts, nor was the bank able to point to any policy prohibiting account holders from engaging in such activities,” the letter said.

“In other words that rationale was a ruse, and even if legitimate, would only apply to one of the closed accounts.”

Marjorie Taylor Greene claims Democrats are planning to have Donald Trump 'MURDERED in jail' by locking him up and taking away his Secret Service protection

MAGA conservative Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene believes Democrats are conspiring to have former President Donald Trump murdered in jail and are attempting to strip his presidential Secret Service detail to accomplish their goal.

She made her case that liberals want to see Trump die in jail during an interview on the far-right show 'Infowars' with controversial host Alex Jones.

Greene claimed the many court cases Trump is facing - including an ongoing trial where he has pleaded not guilty to 34 felony counts relating to alleged hush money payments - are an intentional effort by Democrats to imprison Trump until he dies.

'They want to lock him up in jail for the rest of his life so that he dies in jail,' the Georgia Republican told Jones.

'And they want to take away his Secret Service protection so that he is murdered somewhere in jail, possibly. This is how serious they are.'

Greene was referencing how Mississippi Democrat Rep. Bennie Thompson - the former chairman of the House January 6 Select Committee - introduced a bill last week that aims to strip Secret Service protections from former government officials convicted of a felony.
