Hamas response shows it doesn't want deal, Witkoff says, as US team leaves Gaza talks

US special envoy to the Mideast Steve Witkoff announces that Washington is calling back its negotiators from hostage talks in Doha and will pursue "alternative options" after the latest response from Hamas "clearly shows a lack of desire to reach a ceasefire in Gaza."

"While the mediators have made a great effort, Hamas does not appear to be coordinated or acting in good faith," Witkoff says in his statement. "We will now consider alternative options to bring the hostages home and try to create a more stable environment for the people of Gaza."

"It is a shame that Hamas has acted in this selfish way. We are resolute in seeking an end to this conflict and a permanent peace in Gaza," Witkoff adds.

Witkoff doesn't elaborate on what "alternative options" the US might consider, and it's unclear if the statement is an attempt to ratchet up pressure on the terror group to compromise.

An Arab diplomat and a second source involved in mediation efforts told The Times of Israel that Hamas's response was constructive enough to enable the sides to move forward.

Israel has also recalled its negotiating team.

IDF: No famine in Gaza, but if UN keeps holding back 950 trucks, could be
The IDF admitted that aid in Gaza is at a dangerous point, but asserted that the UN needed to move its trucks to solve the issue.

Despite global claims, there is no famine in Gaza as of yet, the IDF said on Tuesday.

However, it cautioned, the UN and other international aid groups currently have a record 950 trucks sitting on the Gaza side of the border that they are failing to bring to Gazans.

All of this comes amid worldwide media coverage, based on Hamas Health Ministry reports, claiming that 15 Palestinians have died of starvation in the last 24 hours and that 600,000 people in Gaza – nearly one third of the population – are suffering from malnutrition.

Knesset passes non-binding motion on Judea and Samaria sovereignty

"Judea, Samaria and the Jordan Valley are an inseparable part of the Land of Israel—the historic, cultural and spiritual homeland of the Jewish people," the preamble to the resolution states.

A majority of 71 out of 120 Knesset members on Wednesday passed a non-binding resolution in favor of applying Israeli sovereignty to Judea, Samaria and the Jordan Valley.

Only 13 lawmakers voted against the resolution, submitted by Dan Illouz (Likud), Simcha Rothman (Religious Zionism), Limor Son Har-Melech (Otzma Yehudit) and Oded Forer (Yisrael Beiteinu).

“Judea, Samaria and the Jordan Valley are an inseparable part of the Land of Israel—the historic, cultural and spiritual homeland of the Jewish people,” the preamble to the resolution states.

“Centuries and millennia before the establishment of the modern state, the forefathers and prophets of the nation lived and acted in these regions,” it continues. “Here, the foundations of Jewish faith and culture were laid. Cities like Hebron, Shechem (Nablus), Shiloh and Beit El are not merely historical sites—they are living expressions of the continuous Jewish presence in the land.”

Hundreds Of Christians Help Form Human Chain Around Munich Synagogue, Protecting Jews From Antisemitic Pro-Hamas Rally

A large group of residents in Germany, including hundreds of Christians, formed a human chain around a synagogue in Munich to protect the Jewish community from a mass antisemitic demonstration taking place outside during Shabbat prayers.

The anti-Israel march, consisting of 750 individuals, openly called for the killing of Israeli Defence Forces (IDF) soldiers, denied Israel’s right to exist, and referred to the Jewish hostages suffering in Gaza as “war criminals.”

“Mystery Explosions” Just Keep Happening All Over Iran, And We Are Being Warned That The Iranians Are Ready To “Hit Deep Into Israel Again”

I am entirely convinced that the “mystery explosions” that we have been witnessing are an indication that the war between Israel and Iran will soon be “unpaused”. Today, the most important newspaper in the United States ran a major story about the “mysterious explosions and fires” that just keep happening all over Iran. If you have been following my work for a long time, you know why that New York Times story immediately captured my attention. I have been warning about “when the war between Israel and Iran erupts again”, and it appears that we are getting close. The president of Iran just publicly stated that his nation is not optimistic that the ceasefire will hold, and he is warning that his country is ready to “hit deep into Israel again”. Unfortunately, I think that when the war starts up again it won’t be so easy to stop this time.

MAKING AMERICA THE LEADER IN DIGITAL ASSETS: Today, President Donald J. Trump signed the GENIUS Act into law, a historic piece of legislation that will pave the way for the United States to lead the global digital currency revolution. The GENIUS Act prioritizes consumer protection, strengthens the U.S. dollar's reserve currency status, and bolsters our national security. The GENIUS Act will make America the undisputed leader in digital assets, bringing massive investment and innovation to our country.

Trump The Technocrat Releases 'America's AI Action Plan', Launches AI.GOV Website

The White House has just released its official policy document, America's AI Action Plan, defining the future of AI development. Admittedly, Trump doesn't have any real understanding of AI, but he has totally caved in to the Technocrats he appointed in the first place. Indeed, Technocracy is being forced down our throats whether we want it or not.

Coordinated with the release of the Plan, the AI.GOV website was just launched. See it here.

The first pillar of America's AI Action Plan focuses on removing regulatory barriers and eliminating unnecessary review processes. Superficially, this appears as a push against bureaucratic inertia, but in reality, it amounts to an explicit transfer of authority from elected bodies to expert committees and interagency working groups.

Thai fighter jet bombs Cambodian targets as border battle escalates

Thailand scrambled an F-16 fighter jet to bomb targets in Cambodia on Thursday after artillery volleys from both sides killed at least 11 civilians, as border tension boiled over into rare armed conflict between the Southeast Asian countries. Both blamed each other for starting a morning clash at a disputed area of the border, which quickly escalated from small arms fire to heavy shelling in at least six locations 209 kilometres (130 miles) apart along a frontier where sovereignty has been disputed for more than a century.

Ozzy Osbourne Revealed If He Believed in God Before He Died

Ozzy Osbourne is known as the Prince of Darkness, but does Ozzy Osbourne believe in God? It would almost be counter intuitive to think that someone with his dark, heavy metal brand would be religious, but Osbourne shed light on his religious beliefs in interviews leading up to his death.

Osbourne died just a few days after his final performance with his solo band and Black Sabbath, which took place on July 5, dubbed Sabbath's Back to the Beginning concert, in Osbourne's home town of Birmingham, England. Osbourne was 76 years old.

In an interview clip from Audacy shared on Aug. 14, 2015, Osbourne discussed what he thought at the time would be Black Sabbath's final tour, as well as his religious beliefs. The interview was actually from 1992, but Audacy shared it years later.

In the interview, Osbourne said that he believed in God, but that doesn't mean he attended church.

"I believe in God. I don't go to church, but I don't think you have to ... go to church to believe in God," he said.

In an interview with Spin in 1986, as shared by The Guardian, Osbourne said, "I'm a Christian. I was christened as a Christian. I used to go to Sunday school. I never took much interest in it because ... I didn't."

Regarding the idea of Heaven, he said, "My idea of Heaven is feeling good. A place where people are alright to each other. This world scares the ... out of me. We're all living on the tinderbox."

Ozzy visits the Ark Encounter and doesn't suffer the wrath of God

Ozzy Osbourne, perhaps the least likely guy to actually be a Satanist, visited Kentucky's Ark Encounter recently and the faithful are excited that the Prince of Darkness is finally seeing the light.

Ozzy and his son, Jack, went to the Christian theme park in Grant County for an episode of their show, "Ozzy and Jack's World Detour." It aired Nov. 29.

The Osbournes visited on Easter of this year and arrived as a light rain fell. You cannot make this stuff up.

"Me on Easter Sunday going to a f---ing ark?" Ozzy marvels as he and Jack drive through Grant County. "My people will never believe it."

Jack warns Ozzy to be on his best behavior, but father knows best and the heavy metal icon immediately flips off another RV driver because they're "competition." "I'm just saying that if you want to go spouting off about f this, f that, this is bullshit, they're going to kill you," Jack says.

Pro wrestling icon Hulk Hogan dead at 71
Hogan died in his Florida home

"WWE is saddened to learn WWE Hall of Famer Hulk Hogan has passed away," the company wrote. "One of pop culture's most recognizable figures, Hogan helped WWE achieve global recognition in the 1980s.

"WWE extends its condolences to Hogan's family, friends, and fans."

Clearwater Police Department released a statement.

The superstar pro wrestler, whose real name was Terry Bollea, got his start in Championship Wrestling from Florida (CWF) in the late 1970s before he eventually joined the World Wrestling Federation (WWF) in 1979. However, it wasn't until his return to the WWF, now the WWE, when he really turned into the superstar that fans came to know.

Vince McMahon had purchased the WWF from his father and picked Hogan to be the main attraction for the company. He started to wrestle as a babyface when he saved Bob Backlund from an attack by the Wild Samoans. "Hulkamania" became the rage from there.
