

Prophecy Update

<https://abcnews.go.com/US/tsunami-watch-issued-hawaii-after-80-magnitude-earthquake/story?id=124190121>

8.8 magnitude earthquake latest: Volcano erupts in Russia, tsunami waves reach California

A camera captured the eruption of the Klyuchevskaya Sopka volcano.

A massive magnitude 8.8 earthquake struck off Russia's Pacific coast, triggering tsunami warnings and evacuations of coastal areas in Hawaii and alerts along the United States' West Coast.

The intense quake -- about 85 miles off the east coast of Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula -- was one of the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded, and the world's largest since 2011.

Play Video

<https://www.npr.org/2025/07/31/nx-s1-5486587/canada-malta-palestinian-state>

Canada and Malta to recognize Palestinian state, joining France and possibly Britain

Canada and Malta announced Wednesday they will recognize the state of Palestine in September, joining France and the United Kingdom in stepping up pressure to end the nearly 80-year Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney made the announcement after a Cabinet meeting. Christopher Cutajar, the permanent secretary at Malta's Foreign Ministry, made his country's announcement earlier at the U.N. General Assembly's meeting on a two-state solution to the conflict which was extended to a third day because of the high number of countries wanting to speak.

<https://www.breitbart.com/middle-east/2025/07/31/trump-threatens-canada-over-palestinian-state-hard-for-us-to-make-a-trade-deal/>

Trump Threatens Canada over Palestinian State: ‘Hard for Us to Make a Trade Deal’

In a post late Wednesday on Truth Social, Trump said: “Wow! Canada has just announced that it is backing statehood for Palestine. That will make it very hard for us to make a Trade Deal with them. Oh’ Canada!!!”

As Breitbart News had reported, Canada announced that it would join France and the United Kingdom in recognizing Palestinian statehood — despite the ongoing war that Palestinian terrorists began; despite the fact that Hamas continues to hold 50 Israeli hostages, 20 of them living; despite the lack of borders for a Palestinian state; and despite the fact that even the “moderate” Palestinian Authority is a dictatorship.

Trump has dismissed calls for a Palestinian state as a “reward for Hamas.” The families of the Israeli hostages agree, saying that giving Palestinians a state before freeing their loved ones rewards and incentivizes terror.

https://www.prophecynewswatch.com/article.cfm?recent_news_id=8582

Propaganda Wars: Demonizing Israel Through Manipulated Imagery

In an era where information travels faster than ever, the deliberate misuse of images and narratives to shape public opinion has become a potent weapon. A recent and glaring example involves pictures of sick children from Gaza, falsely portrayed as victims of starvation caused by Israel. It's egregious that photos of ill children have been misused to depict Israel as responsible for their condition, buffering claims that Israel is starving children when in fact their conditions are medical.

One boy suffers from a serious genetic illness unrelated to the war. But had Hamas not pilfered billions in financial aid to build up a network of terror, perhaps today there would have been medical facilities in Gaza in which he could be treated. On June 12, Israeli troops coordinated another's evacuation from Gaza, along with his mother and brother for treatment in Italy.

This case exemplifies how fake news is crafted and disseminated to vilify Israel, exploiting vulnerable children to fuel anti-Israel narratives. The manipulation of these images as demonstrating allegations of famine in Gaza made headlines in major outlets like The New York Times, CNN, Sky News, The Guardian, Daily Mail, Daily Express and others (just in English). It reveals a troubling pattern of media bias, and the distortion of truth to demonize a nation. Even worse, it depicts a lie.

Play Video

<https://apnews.com/article/manhattan-office-shooting-nfl-nyc-d32bec88dfe208af1a413cec02034a14>

Gunman who killed 4 in NYC building blamed NFL for mental health issues and was targeting its office

A gunman who killed four people inside a Manhattan office tower blamed his mental health problems on the National Football League and intended to target its headquarters but took the wrong elevator, officials said Tuesday.

Shane Tamura, a Las Vegas casino security worker, was carrying a handwritten note in his wallet that claimed he had chronic traumatic encephalopathy, known as CTE, investigators said. He accused the league of hiding the dangers of brain injuries linked to contact sports.

Tamura, 27, sprayed the skyscraper's lobby with bullets then shot another person in a 33rd-floor office on Monday before he killed himself, authorities said. Among the dead were a police officer, a security guard and two people who worked at companies in the building.

Show Map

<https://yournews.com/2025/07/30/3717274/university-reaches-multi-million-dollar-settlement-with-students-over-jew-exclusion-zone/>

University Reaches Multi-Million-Dollar Settlement With Students Over Jew Exclusion Zone

The University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) reached a nearly $6.5 million settlement on Tuesday with students and a professor who accused the school of discrimination over the rampant antisemitic protests that occurred on campus. The lawsuit was brought in 2024 after the university allegedly failed to shut down a multi-day pro-Palestine encampment that included a 'Jew Exclusion Zone' which prohibited Jewish students from accessing parts of campus. As part of the settlement, UCLA agreed to donate a total of $2.33 million to be split between the university's fund for combating antisemitism as well as several Jewish organizations, consider implementing new policies to protect Jewish students, pay the plaintiffs $50,000 each and pay $3.6 million for the plaintiffs' legal fees. "Antisemitism, harassment, and other forms of intimidation are antithetical to our values and have no place at the University of California," University of California Board of Regents Chair Janet Reilly said in the statement announcing the settlement. "We have been clear about where we have fallen short, and we are committed to doing better moving forward. Today's settlement reflects a critically important goal that we share with the plaintiffs: to foster a safe, secure and inclusive environment for all members of our community and ensure that there is no room for antisemitism anywhere on campus."

<https://time.com/7306647/trump-health-data-medical-records/>

Trump Announces Plan to Launch Private Health Tracking System With Big Tech Firms

The Trump Administration announced a new initiative on Wednesday designed to allow Americans to share their medical records across a host of apps and programs managed by private tech companies—a move that proponents says will facilitate easier access to those records across the country’s fragmented health care system, but that digital privacy experts fear will risk making patients’ data less secure.

“For decades, America’s health care networks have been overdue for a high-tech upgrade and that’s what we are doing,” President Donald Trump said during an event announcing the initiative on Wednesday afternoon.

https://www.prophecynewswatch.com/article.cfm?recent_news_id=8584

Are We Creating A Digital Frankenstein? AI Passes 'I'm Not A Robot' Test

In what might go down as a pivotal moment in technological history--or the beginning of a sci-fi horror film--ChatGPT has done the unthinkable: it passed the "I'm not a robot" test. Yes, you read that right. A robot just told the world it isn't a robot... and got away with it.

At first glance, it's an amusing anomaly--an AI clicking the box that's supposed to stop AIs. But under the surface, this is not a joke. It's a warning.

The "I'm not a robot" checkbox is more than just a minor speed bump on your internet browsing journey. It's a symbolic boundary between human and machine. A last-ditch digital defense that quietly asks: Are you real? For years, the answer has been easy. Bots couldn't fake humanity well enough to cross that line. But now, they can--and that changes everything.

<https://timesofindia.indiatimes.com/technology/tech-news/elon-musks-neuralink-implants-brain-chip-in-ninth-patient-what-neuralink-is-doing-to-bring-the-matrix-to-reality/articleshow/122878747.cms>

Elon Musk's Neuralink implants brain chip in ninth patient: What Neuralink is doing to bring "The Matrix" to reality

Elon Musk's ambitious neurotechnology company, Neuralink, has successfully implanted its brain-computer interface (BCI) chip into a ninth human participant. This marks a major step forward in the mission to connect the human brain directly with digital devices. The announcement, made via Musk's social media platform X, comes just months after the company's first human trial in January 2024. This was also the first time Neuralink performed two surgeries in a single day, showcasing improved efficiency and a growing readiness for broader clinical application. The implanted chip functions by interpreting brain signals and transmitting them to external devices. It allows users to control technology such as computers or smartphones using only their thoughts. While the initial focus is on helping paralysed individuals regain digital independence, the broader vision is far more ambitious. Musk has long hinted that Neuralink could one day bridge the gap between humans and artificial intelligence, potentially unlocking cognitive abilities that mirror science fiction fantasies, including the immersive mind-machine fusion seen in The Matrix.

<https://www.thetimes.com/business-money/companies/article/meta-revenues-rocket-as-it-bets-big-on-being-an-ai-superpower-5kx8wvjhc>

Meta revenues rocket as it bets big on being an AI superpower

Sales at Mark Zuckerberg's social media giant rise 22% to $47bn, with profits up to $18bn, as it readies hundreds of billions of dollars for data centres

Meta Platforms surprised Wall Street with stronger-than-expected quarterly sales as the owner of Facebook and -Instagram invests heavily to stay relevant in Silicon Valley's advanced artificial intelligence race.

The social media giant posted a 22 per cent rise in second-quarter -revenue to $47.5 billion, well ahead of expectations of $44.8 billion. Net income increased by 36 per cent to $18.3 billion, beating analyst forecasts of $15.1 billion.

Meta is racing to catch up with competitors such as Alphabet and Amazon in the race to build out infrastructure and software to power AI applications. In the past two months, Meta has pledged hundreds of billions of dollars to build giant AI data centres and invested $14.3 billion for a stake in start-up -ScaleAI, poaching its 28-year-old chief executive, Alexandr Wang, to lead a “superintelligence lab”.

Play Video

<https://www.dallasobserver.com/news/texas-schools-deploy-attack-drones-to-protect-students-what-to-know-22698222>

Texas Schools Add Attack Drones To Protect Students

The high-speed drones are made to attack and incapacitate an active shooter on school campuses.

The potential future of school safety was displayed this week at Lancaster Middle School. Campus Guardian Angel, an Austin-based tech company, showed how its drones can soar through school halls at 100 mph and respond to active school shooter emergencies in 15 seconds, deploying an array of crisis-control tactics.

The drones, which come in boxes of six for $15,000, are permanently stored in ceiling-high containers on site, allowing for instantaneous deployment. The drones, of which there might be as many as 90, depending on campus size, start by locating an active shooter in a matter of seconds and can fly through double-paned glass. Once located, the drones play a deafening siren and can launch pepper spray bombs. They're also equipped with speakers that can be used by local law enforcement, and in the worst-case scenario, they can be flown directly into the shooter's body at 60 mph.

“Ultimately, if they're [a shooter] still intent on murdering children, then we can escalate further,” said Justin Marston, CEO of Campus Guardian Angel. “When we think about it, it's less militarizing than having police officers carrying guns everywhere.”

Play Ad

<https://www.theguardian.com/uk-news/2025/jul/30/cherry-vann-first-female-archbishop-uk-wales-election>

Cherry Vann becomes UK's first female archbishop after election in Wales
Bishop of Monmouth chosen after Andy John stepped down in June following scandal at Bangor Cathedral

The bishop of Monmouth, Cherry Vann, has been elected as the new archbishop of Wales, becoming the UK's first female archbishop and first LGBTQ+ leader in the church in Wales in a symbolic break with recent safeguarding scandals.

Vann, 66, was chosen on Wednesday after an electoral college made up of clergy and laypersons met for two days of deliberations at St Pierre church near Chepstow.

Play Apostate Video

<https://www.foxnews.com/world/exclusive-eyewitness-testimony-reveals-horrific-details-deadly-church-attack-african-nation>

Islamist terrorists kill 49 Christians in African church massacre; eyewitness reveals horrific details

'This is a silent slaughter happening, which nobody is discussing,' expert says

Dramatic testimony has been revealed exclusively to Fox News Digital, giving new details from the scene of the horrific massacre Sunday by Jihadists allied to the Islamic State of at least 49 Christians worshiping in a church in the Eastern Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC).

Nine of those who were decapitated were children. Several other children, the number isn't clear, were abducted. The attackers were members of the Islamist Allied Democratic Forces (ADF), a sanctioned rebel group with roots in Uganda.

From survivors in the village, including a shop owner who managed to be an eyewitness and remarkably escaped detection by the attackers even though his shop was burnt down, and the reported position of the bodies of those hacked to death, the church worker pieced together an account of how the attack happened.