Kevin Sneed

Colossians 4:7-14

1. Kevin opened up his sermon with the statement, “the greatest issue facing the world today is...” How would you finish this sentence?
2. The question, “Will Christians become disciples, apprentices of Jesus Christ?” was asked. How does this relate to you personally?
3. “Discipleship is moving from this present age, into the age to come.” What would this look like for you, as you sojourn here on earth?
4. Kevin shared how, the truest thing about you is that, “...your life is now hidden in Christ.” (Colossians 3:3). Do you believe this to be true?
5. “The task of the church is for God to serve the best He can in the human community.” What’s been your experience in a church community?
6. This book of Colossians was described as “subservient” (submissive, deferential). It propels us to forgo or rethink the way we approach life and our new nature as image-bearers of Christ. How has studying this book changed the way you view your identity in Christ?

7. Kevin explained how we're to take seriously the teachings of Jesus (ex: "love your enemies, love the Lord your God with all your mind, heart, soul, it's more blessed to give than to receive"). Which of Christ's teachings particularly resonate with you right now?

8. This study and sermon closed us out with the opportunity to, "do less so I can allow the Holy Spirit to do His work." How can the group be praying for you while you do this?
