The I of the Storm
Jonah 1:9-17
Al Gascon | February 8, 2026

- Not being perfectly holy doesn't abolish personal accountability.

A man who confesses his sins in the presence of a brother knows that he is no longer alone with himself; he experiences the presence of God in the reality of the other person. As long as I am by myself in the confession of my sins, everything remains in the clear, but in the presence of a brother, the sin has to be brought into the light. –Dietrich Bonhoeffer

- Being a beneficiary of salvation should always lead to worship and adoration.

Propitiation

- To satisfy the anger of a deity by way of a sacrifice.
- Averting the wrath of God by offering a gift.

- God's anger toward disobedience and ungodliness was quenched by an act of propitiation.

A propitiation occurred when Jonah's living body is buried in the stormy sea. After the appeasement took place grace abounded, and where grace abounded worship quickly followed, because worship is the only proper response to the outpouring of grace from the throne of God.

- We go into Nineveh because we're in need of the very same grace we sometimes feel he/she/they don't deserve.

Discussion Questions

- Do you think the story would have changed if Jonah would have prayed to his God like the sailors prayed to their gods?
- What is the biggest surprise/shocker in chapter 1 of Jonah?
- If you were one of the sailors on the boat with Jonah, how do you respond to his solution to calm the storm?
- Have you discovered who or where "Nineveh" is for you? What is the message you need to bring?
