Urgent Petition: Save the Religious Defense Clause (Bill C-9)

The Justice Committee of Canada has passed a motion to amend Bill C-9 by removing the existing "Religious Defense Clause" from the Criminal Code. This clause previously ensured that individuals would not be charged with "hate speech" for expressing views based on religious beliefs. The removal of this clause means that churches, pastors, and even believers could potentially be prosecuted for "hate speech" when quoting the Bible or expressing opinions on faith-related issues.

Please participate in this petition against Bill C-9 via the link below:

Please note: After submitting the petition, you will receive a final confirmation email. You must check your inbox and click the link provided in the email for your signature to be officially counted.
