The Mission

"To inspire and nurture the human spirit - one person, one cup, and one neighborhood at a time."

"To over-roast every single coffee bean so that, to enjoy it, our customers will need to put eight sugar packs into it or squirt a bunch of flavors into it."

"To give people the power to share and make the world more open and connected."

"To give people artificial courage so that they may vehemently argue with all kinds of people who will never ever share their political opinion on anything ever."

“Our Mission at Eastside Church is to REACH, TEACH, MEND, & SEND
all people with the unfailing love of Jesus.”

“My mission is to live each day as an expression of loving God and humanity, and to treat each day as a gift, and an opportunity to help make a small part of the world in which I live better.”

Now he brought me back to the entrance to the Temple. I saw water pouring out from under the Temple porch to the east. The water poured from the south side of the Temple, south of the altar.

He then took me out through the north gate and led me around the outside to the gate complex on the east. The water was gushing from under the south front of the Temple. He walked to the east with a measuring tape and measured off fifteen hundred feet, leading me through water that was ankle-deep.

He measured off another fifteen hundred feet, leading me through water that was knee-deep. He measured off another fifteen hundred feet, leading me through water waist deep. He measured off another fifteen hundred feet. By now it was a river over my head, water to swim in, water no one could possibly walk through.

He said, "Son of man, have you had a good look?"

Then he took me back to the riverbank.
While sitting on the bank, I noticed a lot of trees on both sides of the river.

He told me, "This water flows east, descends to the Arabah and then into the sea, the sea of stagnant waters. When it empties into those waters, the sea will become fresh. Wherever the river flows, life will flourish- great schools of fish- because the river is turning the salt sea into fresh water.

Where the river flows, life abounds.
Fishermen will stand shoulder to shoulder
along the shore from En-gedi all the way north to Eneglaim, casting their nets. The sea will teem with fish of all kinds, like the fish of the Great Mediterranean.

“The swamps and marshes won’t become fresh. They’ll stay salty. But the river itself, on both banks, will grow fruit trees of all kinds. Their leaves won’t wither, the fruit won’t fail.

Every month they'll bear fresh fruit because the river from the Sanctuary flows to them. Their fruit will be for food and their leaves for healing.
