We have been discussing Satan as well as the Beast and the False Prophet. All three of these will make up the counterfeit trinity that will demand worship from the remaining population of the planet after the events of Revelation 12 when Satan and all his fallen ones are cast down to earth and have nowhere else to go.

Revelation 12:9

“And the great dragon was thrown down, the serpent of old who is called the devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world; he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him.” (NASB 2020)

The counterfeit trinity would have Satan, acting like he is the most high just as he stated in Isaiah 14:12-15. The Beast is the counterfeit Christ complete with an alleged return from the dead. And the False Prophet is the counterfeit Holy Spirit.

And just as Christ’s resurrection sparked rapid growth in the church, the so-called resurrection of the Antichrist will cause the world to follow him (with the exception of those who accept Christ during the Tribulation). (Jeremiah 2014, 153)

Why will so many opt to follow the Beast? Because they will believe he is divine. This is post-rapture, the Holy Spirit is no longer restraining evil. And then guy shows up who has the solutions to everything and he does a peace deal involving Israel.

Daniel 9:27

“And he will confirm a covenant with the many for one week, but in the middle of the week he will put a stop to sacrifice and grain offering; and on the wing of abominations will come the one who makes desolate, until a complete destruction, one that is decreed, gushes forth on the one who makes desolate.” (NASB 2020)

2 Thessalonians 2:8–10

“Then that lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will eliminate with the breath of His mouth and bring to an end by the appearance of His coming; that is, the one whose coming is in accord with the activity of Satan, with all power and false signs and wonders, and with all the deception of wickedness for those who perish, because they did not accept the love of the truth so as to be saved.” (NASB 2020)

The name of the game is deception. And the Beast has a press secretary as well, the False Prophet.

Revelation 13:11–17

“Then I saw another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spoke as a dragon. He exercises all the authority of the first beast in his presence. And he makes the earth and those who live on it worship the first beast, whose fatal wound was healed. He performs great signs, so that he even makes fire come down out of the sky to the earth in the presence of people. And he deceives those who live on the earth because of the signs which it was given him to perform in the presence of the beast, telling those who live on the earth to make an image to the beast who had the wound of the sword and has come to life. And it was given to him to give breath to the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast would even speak and cause all who do not worship the image of the beast to be killed. And he causes all, the small and the great, the rich and the poor, and the free and the slaves, to be given a mark on their right hands or on their foreheads, and he decrees that no one will be able to buy or to sell, except the one who has the mark, either the name of the beast or the number of his name.” (NASB 2020)

Just as the Holy Spirit glorifies the Son, the false prophet has a similar objective, make everyone worship the Beast.

This person will be the ultimate religious leader and will most likely be empowered by Satan. Note that what is done by the False Prophet is always done in the presence of the Beast. This is where the technology will all come into play.

With the combination of classical computing, quantum computing as well as Artificial Intelligence and machine learning, you have the capability of having a tool which makes those who use it, seem almost godlike. This is a hybrid type of architecture which is currently being explored.

Hybrid architectures also enable temporal intelligence—the ability to reason across multiple time horizons. Classical systems manage: Immediate responses, Policy enforcement, Real-time interaction. Quantum systems contribute by: Evaluating long-term consequences, Exploring delayed effects, Sampling distant futures. Together, they allow intelligence to operate both in the moment and across decades. This is essential for strategic planning, governance, and civilization-scale decision-making. (Ettington 2025, 77)

We discussed mind reading and control technology last time. We did not discuss that this is now 40-year-old technology.

We have also discussed technology, being sued in the Middle East, the is based on long term observation and AI augmentation to determine who what when and where. Something explodes, the image is captured and viewed and all ground movement is also captured. The idea is to determine where the person who did this came from and where they went to. Then, as we have seen Israel and the US do, eliminate the target who was responsible. What if you could do that with a space-based weapon? This was openly discussed in March 2025.

In order to achieve space superiority, US forces must first control the space domain by “employing kinetic and non-kinetic means to affect adversary capabilities through disruption, degradation, and even destruction, if necessary,” General Saltzman said.

Kinetic? Imagine a missile or some other projectile smashing into an enemy satellite. Non-kinetic? This category involves jamming, cyberattacks, and directed-energy weapons, like lasers or microwave signals, that could disable spacecraft in orbit.

“It includes things like orbital warfare and electromagnetic warfare,” Saltzman said. These capabilities could be used offensively or defensively. (Clark 2025)

Returning to Revelation 13:12, we see that the False Prophet “makes the earth and those who live on it” worship the first beast. This is much more than convincing talk and includes everything from threats of death, death, but also potentially, the utilization of space-based assets operating in a V2K environment.

Satan, of course, is not omniscient, and he is not omnipresent either. But with the right applications running and the technology we are seeing being deployed today, all that is needed is to be able to house the data that would be harvested or required to enable global control. Enter the newest issue today, the growing number of data centers.

Data centers, which house computer systems that help train AI models, are blanketing the country, a boom fueled by surging interest in AI and state tax breaks.

More than 4,000 are already in operation, mostly in Virginia, Texas, and California, and 3,000 more are being planned or under construction. (Mineo 2026)

And the really good news, quantum computers are less than five years away being added into the data centers. In other words, the necessary infrastructure to maintain surveillance is now being deployed. Meanwhile, cameras also continue to increase.

I am preparing to upgrade the perimeter lighting at my house to be on demand rather than requiring me to throw a switch. Each unit will have its own motion sensor tied to lighting, and a camera to that will begin recording upon activation. For paranoid people like me, that seems like a good deal. But stop and think about it for a minute, my neighbors are also thinking along the same lines. Right now it is for crime prevention, but what if others want access.

Showing up nationally right now is a device called a Flock camera.

Cities across the country are adopting -- or rejecting -- Flock Safety surveillance systems, which use controversial AI-powered license plate cameras partnered with local police and other law enforcement. Due to concerns over privacy and how Flock allows data to be used, dozens of cities have cancelled their Flock contracts this year. Bend, Oregon, was one of them, but only after passionate city council meetings. Some towns have even had to cover Flock cameras with plastic bags because they aren't sure if the cams are shut down. (Lacoma 2026)

For those of us who worked in law enforcement and were always looking for better methods of crime prevention, cameras are a great deterrent. But with the other technologies out there right now, are you ready to be on camera the moment you walk outside until you get home?

In Great Britain right now, everything is on a camera. Here in Florida, the places that are not under camera surveillance are becoming fewer. I mean Flock Safety even has an option for churches. And in this day and age, it is not unattractive, which is the good and the bad.

Technology for good reasons, but once the restrainer is removed, will it still be used solely for that. Or will all the cameras be turned on and used by others.

We will talk about this every now and then contingent upon changes in technology, but it is now pretty obvious that the backbone infrastructure for what will be needed by the Beast, is close to being deployed or is being deployed right now.

There will be a need for computers that can “reason” and make decisions. Hybrid systems involving quantum computers and AI enables that.

Space based weapons to make it appear fire is being called down from heaven. Most likely deployed or soon to be deployed. That was on Space Commands wish list.

Electromagnetic satellites which can double as V2K or MKTech platforms, already deployed. Neural and electromagnetic weapons that use high power antennas — one of the great military secrets of the ages — can suddenly come to light and be widespread in all nations, requiring only adaptation and adjustments in the existing equipment and alterations in the software. In other words, you'd just need to install neural recognition programs on computers, and every communication satellite would become a space weapon. (de Santa Cruz Abreu 2020, 370)

Worldwide access to the internet, StarLink is deployed active, and being upgraded right now. Give breath to the image of the Beast, that was demonstrated over a decade ago.

Using computers of the time, Tupac Shakur performed “live” via a hologram years after his death. (Ganz 2012)

We are living in the last few seconds of the last minute of the last hour of the last day here on this planet.

Jesus Christ is about to say “come up here.” And I can hardly wait. Let's pray.
