Code Red: Faith and Resistance in a Communist Age

This transcript from Corner Fringe Ministries presents a message by Pastor Daniel Joseph arguing that the United States has fallen under the control of communism and the spirit of Antichrist. Daniel cites the suspension of their YouTube channel for alleged medical misinformation and the legal harassment of small business owners as evidence of lost constitutional freedoms. He highlights personal stories of vaccine injuries and state-enforced lockdowns to illustrate what it describes as diabolical evil and government overreach. Invoking the Declaration of Independence, Daniel claims citizens have a duty to throw off tyrannical governance and establish a new guard. Ultimately, he encourages believers to remain patient and established in their faith, viewing current hardships as the biblical tribulation preceding the return of Jesus.

Welcome, everyone. I'm Daniel Joseph, and you're once again "On The Corner Fringe." Thank you so much for joining me today.

Before we get into what I want to cover today, I want to talk about YouTube. As many of you know, we were temporarily suspended from our YouTube account so that we couldn't post videos or live stream. Obviously, I want to apologize for that. For many of you, this is Corner Fringe's go-to resource. And so there are two things I want to address regarding YouTube. Number one is the reason we were given that we were suspended, but number two, and I'll cover the second point first. I want to talk about alternative platforms. I want to get our audience and those who are so faithful in following us. I want to get you in the habit of looking towards alternative platforms. We want to start relying more on them than we do on YouTube because I believe our days on YouTube are numbered. And so, I just want to throw this out to you.

One alternative platform we're using now is Vimeo, so if you don't find us on YouTube, you can go to Vimeo. If you don't find us on Vimeo, you can go to Rumble. This is a platform I'm really excited about. I like the way it's laid out. I don't foresee us, you know, knocking on wood, here, but I don't foresee us getting kicked off there anytime soon, so acquaint yourself with Rumble, with Vimeo, and acquaint yourself with our website as well. If you can't find us, hopefully our website is up and running, and you'll be able to access teachings there. Note that if our website goes down, we'll post an alternate site ASAP with the teachings. We want to make sure you can still access all the teachings and stay current with us so we can communicate with you as much as possible.

Now, going back to point one, the reason we were kicked off or temporarily suspended is for “medical misinformation.” I kid you not, that's why we were taken off. Now, I have to tell you, the video that I posted has no medical misinformation. I am more than willing to take this to court. There's no medical misinformation. But be that as it may, this is the reason we were given.

And it's interesting, and I want to read to you their medical COVID-19 guidance policy for misinformation and things to be careful of, and just listen to this; this is what they say: “Don't post content on YouTube if it includes any of the following,” and I'm only going to read a couple here. But the first is “Content that claims that any currently available medicine prevents you from getting the coronavirus.” In other words, you can't post anything claiming that medicine that already exists and is in use as we speak—what they call repurposed drugs, like hydroxychloroquine or ivermectin—can be used as prophylaxis, even though doctors in this country use them for that very purpose. So we have valid licensed medical physicians who are actually helping people, who care about them, and who just want them to get better. These people are getting kicked off YouTube. That is mind-blowing.

Okay, you know how if you've been following me for the last decade, you know, I have been warning this nation that communism is coming. Communism is getting its grip around America; its goal is to destroy her to take her over. Well, I'm here to tell you today, I can't talk like that anymore because that's a foregone conclusion. No, no, no. Today, communism is in charge. We are living under communism.

There's a reason why small business owners don't have the freedom to operate their businesses legitimately and make a living. There's no freedom of speech, clearly. There's no freedom of the press. Everything's being censored. We no longer have the freedom, as Americans, to go to and fro and travel as we always have, as we're accustomed to. We no longer can get together with family members. I mean, not being able to go to church, you know, shutting churches down, and still, in some places in this country, trying to tell people they can't sing. This is insane. This is called communism. We are currently living under communism. There's no question about it.

I want to open up today with a headline for you—Stefan J. Bos, “CDC: COVID Shot Cause Thousands To Have ‘Health Impact Events,’” Worthy News, December 28, 2020—A CDC report, obtained by Worthy News, showed problems started almost immediately after the roll-out began of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 jab. Listen to this: Out of 112,807 registered receivers of the vaccine, at least 3,150 people complained of “health impacts events” after the shot was administered, the report showed.

It goes on and shows this graph. In the second line there, you'll notice it says, "Health Impact Events, 3,150" out of the 112,000. That's mind-blowing, but let's put it in context. These people who had an event were individuals who were unable to perform normal daily activities. These were people who were unable to go to work. These are people who actually required care from a doctor or healthcare professional. And this is coming out of the CDC.

Think about that. Here's the situation; let's follow the logic. Many corporations in America are already taking the stand where they're saying, "Listen, you want to work here? We're going to mandate that you get the vaccine, or you're not going to work here." But now people are getting the vaccine, and guess what? Because they're having an event, they can't go back to work. So, let me get this straight. If I don't get the vaccine, I can't work here. If I do get the vaccine, I can't work here. That's the insanity of this.

Now, what's worse is this: these are short-term events. In other words, these events are happening in the short term. What about the midterm? What about long-term? What about the two to five years? I mean, what's going to happen just in the midterm? Like, let's just say six months to two years. What happens to these people in this time? We don't know. But from the looks of things, it's not going to go well at all.

I want to share a video with you. This is a registered nurse. Unfortunately, she got the vaccination. Her name is Chloe Lou Mitchell. Check out this video.

Chloe Lou Mitchell—Hi, I am a registered nurse in Nashville, Tennessee, and my name is Chloe Lou Mitchell. I'm reaching out to everyone about the COVID-19 vaccination. I recently took the COVID-19 vaccination. After the shot, I felt fine, but within three days, I went to the doctor because I had problems with my face. The whole left side of my face, actually. I have Bell's palsy now. And as you can see, I can't smile, and I'm trying to smile. I'm just getting embarrassed at work. But I just want everyone to know that I think this vaccination is the worst thing ever. And I would not give this to anybody, even my worst enemy. Please, America, they do not care about us. Do not take this vaccination.

It's absolutely heartbreaking to see this poor woman, who, there's no other way to say it, was bewitched into taking this vaccination, and now she has Bell's palsy. This, you know, it's this type of stuff that, to me, is unacceptable, and we should be angry, and we should be hurt that this kind of evil is pushing forward without even blinking. And again, I tell you this kind of evil that we're experiencing right now can only be described as the spirit of Antichrist. It is pure evil, and we have to fight against this with truth.

We have to fight against this by educating people by provoking thought, just provoking thought and saying, Hey, would you look at all the evidence? Would you look at the other side? At least the anti-vaxxer side, and what they have to say. Not that all anti-vaxxers are anti-vaccines of all kinds, but COVID-19 and the ingredients within definitely cause concern, and there's a reason to step back. Even if you don't have faith in Jesus, in Yeshua right now, you need to step back and look at the medical implications and dangers. This is the concern.

Now they want to get everyone vaccinated. And this stuff's not going to stop. These events will only metastasize at an exponential rate. You look at that five-day graph, and if you were to just continue on that, it's devastating, and this is just short-term. That doesn't mean all these other hundreds of thousands and, obviously, eventually millions that are going to get it. It doesn't mean that they're not going to have a serious life-complicating event at some point over the next six months to two years or even five, or we don't know. And I'm not claiming to make a statement that, yeah, this is what's going to happen. We don't know. But here's the deal: you don't want to find out; there is no way. This is appalling, given what is happening.

And did you hear what she said? They don't care about us. She gets this; she recognizes the reality. They don't care about us. She couldn't be more right. Breaks my heart that this poor woman experienced this. I don't want anyone to experience what she has and what she's going through. Nobody should have to do this through fear-mongering, seduction, or pressure. This is just garbage, and you should be angry.

Well, if that didn't get you angry enough, I'm going to show you another video of a gal named Levita, who runs a restaurant in Lynn, Minnesota, and listen to her story. And this is just a bit of it. There's more to it, but I'm just going to play a small clip of it. Listen to what she is going through. This is mind-blowing.

I hope everyone can hear me; I'll get a little closer. So today I got the summons from the court, from my lawyer, and I guess I should give an update. I haven't been going on here; I'm sorry. So the health department—they've been coming in every day that I'm open, and they just come in and say, "Are you open?" And I say, "Yes, I'm open." And so they just have to come and check, and so we talk, and then he leaves, and then he has to go and report it to the state. So that's where we've been. So they've been doing that every day, almost every day, besides our little storm. So, today I get a summons from the court, and they're trying to do an expedited hearing. So, I got a summons stating this is—I just don't even understand.

It's unbelievable. Stating that, you know, they're coming after me, and they want to, you know, continue fining me, but not only that, they're saying that, here's the kicker, they're saying that they could, um, that they could have me go work at, they can take me and have me go work at a, what is that, a work farm? They said one was a work farm or one was a workhouse for six months. So, they want me to stop working at my own business to enslave me, jail me so that I can go work for the state, I guess, I don't know. So that's their; that's what their options are right now; that's what they're saying in the summons.

Not only that, but this is, they are threatening. They're saying that the money that I raised for, um, for my lawyers—sorry, guys. This is ridiculous. So, the money that we raised for the pay, the lawyers, and the lawyer fees—they're saying they want it, they're going to take it, that they want to take it, and, uh, do whatever they want. So, they're threatening that, you know, they want to not only not even just throw me in jail, but they want to put me in a workhouse or a work farm for six months. This is the country that we're living in.

I'm not out here. I'm out here trying to, you know, stand for my Constitution and my country that I love and stand for my daughters. And you know, just make a living, and they want to penalize small businesses. I've had so many people calling, and I want to reach out to Lake Benton if we could show them some love. They are; I heard about the close-down. And I know they worked so hard. And not only that, Joe, but also if you could really reach out to him, because they are threatening him that they want him to sign a waiver that says if he signs this waiver, that at any time, if he has any mandate from here on out, he would have to abide by it forever. So, whatever the governor says, he would have to do. And then they're saying that if he doesn't do it, you know, they're going to fine him $25,000, the threats, the lies, and the bullying of the small businesses that are happening every day.

Lisa Monet, love you. I'm so proud of you. Jane, everyone, you guys are not understanding; they're harassing small business owners every day with threats and bullying them. If this was any other country, any other world that we're living in, people would be outraged. But the silence is deafening. You know, everyone keeps saying, What can we do? And that's, I know I wish I had more to tell you, but I know that if we could call our senators and representatives, you know, the, on, what is it? January 4th, they are going to, hopefully, rescind the governor's orders, and, you know, hopefully, you know, put a stop to this. But if they don't, we, the people, have to come together.

We, the people, have to make the right decisions. We know what to do. We have to stand and stand together and stand on our Constitution. Stand on the Word. Stand on Yahweh, God, because those are the only things that we can rely on. We clearly see that we can't rely on the judges. We can't rely on our representatives to do what we put them in office to do. We the people are the ones that are supposed to be in charge, not the government.

I couldn't have said it better. We, the people, are supposed to be governing, and this state and much of the nation have been hijacked. Now, did you hear what she said? Literally in the summons, they are threatening to throw her in a forced labor camp. Now, where have we heard that before? Oh yeah, in the Stalinist regime called the Gulag. Have you heard about the Gulag? This is where Stalin would send anyone who was a dissenter, anyone who was, you know, considered an enemy of communism. They would go to the forced labor camps, and they would be literally worked to death. They're not; that's not hyperbole. They would be starved to death, and they would often be executed in the forced labor camps. I mean, you go to the Gulag; it's not something you expect to come out of. We are literally seeing this insanity happening right in our own state, right now. The threat of going to a forced labor camp.

So again, try to understand the logic because there is none. Okay, so you want to stop somebody from trying to earn a living legitimately, opening a business, being willing to serve other people, and other people being willing to come and support her business. No, you want to take her out of that. She's not allowed to do that, but she can go work in the labor camp. This is a joke, right? It's just that this is like this whole concept of, okay, you can't work here if you don't get the vaccine. Oh, but if you do get the vaccine, well, guess what? You're going to be incapacitated, so you can't come back to work then. Do you see the insanity that's going on? This is diabolical evil.

Then, on top of it, she raises money, which she has to raise because she's not allowed to work. You can't make money unless you go to work. So she raises money to get attorneys so she can do the simplest, most meager thing you can imagine in this country: just let me go to work. No, no, she can't do that. So she raises money, and now they're threatening to come and take the money she has raised. You know what I call that? That's called communism. That's what they call it.

Let me be clear on something. If you're one of those sitting behind your desk and this hasn't come to you yet, or you just don't see the urgency, or you really think we're going to get through this as a state or even as a nation, you are delusional because at some point this is coming. This is going to impact you more.

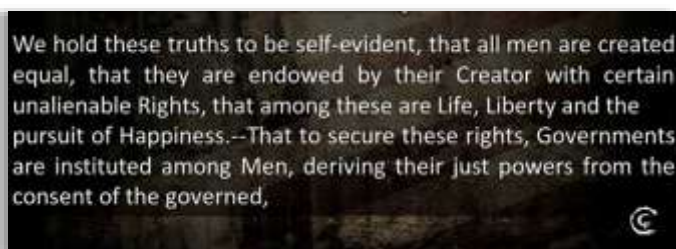

You know it's really easy for people when they have food on the table, and things seem to be okay for them, just to go about their lives. And that is so irritating to me because of what I'm seeing, because I'm seeing people like Chloe Lou Mitchell getting Bell's palsy from being totally pressured and seduced into doing something totally demonic. I see Levita trying to open her business, just trying to work so she can support her children. And this is what's happening. This nation is totally under the rule of communism. There are good parts; there are still good people. But I'm telling you, the momentum is unreal right now.

Well, in light of Levita's comments, what I really appreciated were the two things she said: "We need to rely on the Word. We need to rely on the Lord." And man, I could not agree more. That's the only steadfast thing. That's the only thing trustworthy. These politicians, you can't trust them any farther than you can kick them. It's just disgusting. Now, I say that, please forgive me. I don't mean every politician, but we all know the swamp is deep.

I want to go to our Declaration, the founding document of this nation, going back to 1776. This is what we read: In Congress, July 4, 1776. The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America—When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle

them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

And here we get into it. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights. Now notice, the government does not endow us. The Creator endows us. See, government isn't God. It was never intended to be God in the United States of America. It is intended to be God in Stalin's world, in Lenin's world, in Pol Pot's world, and in Mao Zedong's world. It is, well, in many of the people and politicians we see attempting to take over America today and doing it, unfortunately, far too successfully.

So, they're endowed by their creed with certain unalienable rights—that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. Isn't that interesting? The point, and this is what's amazing to me: to secure our rights; that's why government is in existence, so that I am assured of the ability to pursue life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Okay, so that Levita can go out and run a business and make money and support her family, right? This is the whole idea behind government, okay? And then it says, "Deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." In other words, the whole concept of "We the people."

There's a heartbeat that I have for this nation; it's a saying I always use, that I used in "Death of America": "Oh, how I long to live in a nation where its government represents the will of the people and the will of the people represents the will of God." That is the heartbeat. That was this nation's heartbeat. That is not what we are experiencing right now, not even close.

But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.-

Continuing—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, we're there; it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness.

Jumping down—But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, in other words, total tyranny, it is their right—it doesn't stop there; it's their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.

I wonder, are we going to see this happen? And if so, when? See, because of the Declaration, the context that it was written in, where we had our founding fathers coming out of tyranny. This was the whole point of penning this Declaration. It was with tyranny in mind. In other words, what I'm telling you is the Declaration was written for today. That's why this is the exact context it was written for. And now it becomes more tangible. The words begin to take root, and they begin to make sense. You know, you read the Declaration 20 years ago, and I did. It didn't mean anything compared to what it means to me today. And it's just ironic; it shows you the brilliance behind the document.

Let me say this, because I want to be clear. I'm not calling for violence. I am calling for a new guard. I'm calling for a total, you know, reinstitution of a responsible government that knows that its sole objective is to ensure that we have the right to pursue life, liberty, and happiness. That's the government we need. A government that is pro-prayer in schools. A government that puts the Ten Commandments back in the parks and in different state-run buildings. I want a government that is not hip to literally killing the unborn child and values life.

Ughhh, it is so frustrating. I mean, when I see people going through what they're going through, it just angers me. And who knows how many more people will get vaccinated tomorrow? Who knows how many more small business owners will get bullied and harassed? And who knows how many more churches...? I mean, I haven't even brought churches into this. I have countless articles about churches being fined back to the Stone Age. Fines they could never even dream of paying off. And they're just being buried in these things all for one purpose. They want them to shut down. You no longer have the right to exist. I'm telling you right now we're living in communism. It's not coming; it's here, and we're seeing it.

I want to close with a passage from the book of James, and this is what we read in James 5:8: we need these words. —You also be patient. Establish your hearts, for the coming of the Lord is at hand. In other words, Yeshua is on His way. Get ready. Resolve your hearts; get strong right now.

See, one thing James knew well, as did all the Apostles, was that tribulation would come before the coming of the Lord. And what I like about what James does is he doesn't just focus on the tribulation. Yes, I mean, read the New Testament, and I could take you to the Old. It spends a lot of time talking about the tribulation. There is a reason. We need to heed these words about this tribulation. There's a reason that these words are brought forth. But as believers, you don't stop there; you go beyond. You want to strengthen? You want to become established in your heart? You have to go beyond that and go, "I know what's following this tribulation. It is the coming of the Son, the Living God." And that's where we, as believers, have to set our eyes on the ultimate goal.

Now, in the interim, in this time of tribulation we're entering, make no mistake: it is your right; it is your duty to act in righteousness and push back the forces of evil. As believers, we have a duty to speak truth and love. This is what our duty is. Amen?

He goes on, and I'm going to jump to James 5:10—My brethren, take the prophets, who spoke in the name of the Lord, as an example of suffering and patience. In other words, look at the prophets. Just read the Bible. Look at what they went through; that's the example. Be prepared. Don't expect anything less. That's the example of suffering and patience. They endured. They did not falter. They did not faint in the day of adversity. Proverbs 24:10 tells us, "If you faint in the day of adversity, Your strength is small." Your faith is weak, and may I say, pathetic? We don't want to be those men and women. Amen?

James 5:11—Indeed we count them blessed who endure. You have heard of the perseverance of Job and seen the end intended by the Lord—that the Lord is very compassionate and merciful. These are the words that I want to end this video on. These are the words that you need to be left with. Knowing this, the Lord is merciful and compassionate.

Hold the line for righteousness. Do not be intimidated by evil. Establish in your hearts right now that you will not compromise, but that the light of Jesus, Yeshua, will burn hot in you so people will be able to see for miles as they get close to you; they'll feel the heat of the fire of the Holy Spirit emanating from you. This is my desire that this kind of remnant will rise in these days and be a strength to others, providing the perfect platform to share the gospel of Jesus, Yeshua.

With that said, God bless you. Fight the good fight of faith.
