PARADISE TO PROMISE | Discussion Guide

When you think about God's heart toward you, what do you assume He feels most strongly? How does this passage challenge or correct that assumption?

In what ways are you tempted to treat faith as mere agreement with facts rather than personal trust in Christ? What would it look like for you to rely on Him more personally this week?

What are some signs that a person is resisting God, even while appearing outwardly moral or religious? Where might that resistance be showing up in your own life?

What do people usually try to keep hidden from God and others? What might it look like for you to stop concealing and start walking openly before Him?

How should knowing that God moved toward sinners shape the way you live each day? What is one concrete change you need to make in response to that love?
