ROUTINE RESET: Hear & Do

James 1:22-25 November 1st, 2026

Big Idea: God's Word calls for _____ lives, not just _____ minds.

Don't confuse _____ with _____. (v. 22)

Four ways we hear without obeying:

1. _____: "I decide what it says and how it applies."
2. _____: "The Bible itself will bring me blessing."
3. _____: "I want comfort without correction."
4. _____: "I'd rather discuss it than do it."

Don't leave _____ what God brings to _____. (vv. 23-25)

Four ways to move from hearing to doing:

1. Look _____.
2. _____.
3. Not _____.
4. But _____.

Obedience may cost your _____, but it carries God's _____. (v. 25)

ROUTINE RESET: Hear & Do

James 1:22-25 November 1st, 2026

Big Idea: God's Word calls for _____ lives, not just _____ minds.

Don't confuse _____ with _____. (v. 22)

Four ways we hear without obeying:

1. _____: "I decide what it says and how it applies."
2. _____: "The Bible itself will bring me blessing."
3. _____: "I want comfort without correction."
4. _____: "I'd rather discuss it than do it."

Don't leave _____ what God brings to _____. (vv. 23-25)

Four ways to move from hearing to doing:

1. Look _____.
2. _____.
3. Not _____.
4. But _____.

Obedience may cost your _____, but it carries God's _____. (v. 25)

ROUTINE RESET | Discussion Guide

What makes it easy to mistake learning about God for growing closer to Him? How can you recognize whether what you're learning is changing how you live?

Which temptation do you recognize most in yourself: picking what applies, relying on religious routines, seeking comfort, or enjoying discussion without action? How does that approach keep you from responding to God?

When has something you read in Scripture or heard in a sermon challenged you, but you never followed through? What would responding faithfully look like now?

What discomfort most often keeps you from serving others or talking about Jesus? What step could you take this week to trust God beyond that discomfort?

How might pausing some activities create space to invest in someone else's faith? Who could you begin helping to follow Jesus, and what might your first step together be?

WE'RE NOT CALLED TO WALK ALONE
Join a Life Group – pataskalagrace.org/life-groups

ROUTINE RESET | Discussion Guide

What makes it easy to mistake learning about God for growing closer to Him? How can you recognize whether what you're learning is changing how you live?

Which temptation do you recognize most in yourself: picking what applies, relying on religious routines, seeking comfort, or enjoying discussion without action? How does that approach keep you from responding to God?

When has something you read in Scripture or heard in a sermon challenged you, but you never followed through? What would responding faithfully look like now?

What discomfort most often keeps you from serving others or talking about Jesus? What step could you take this week to trust God beyond that discomfort?

How might pausing some activities create space to invest in someone else's faith? Who could you begin helping to follow Jesus, and what might your first step together be?

WE'RE NOT CALLED TO WALK ALONE
Join a Life Group – pataskalagrace.org/life-groups