

SACRED Sexuality

Corrupting a Culture

Tim Wilmetti

April 26th, 2026

Numbers 21:1-9

Big Idea: Satan _____ cultures
by _____ them into _____ sin.

- What feels like _____ works like _____.
- Sex isn't merely _____; it is deeply _____.

A Culture Conditioned for Confusion:

- _____ trumped _____.
- Everything became _____.
- We _____ God and _____ went with Him.
- Sex became our _____.
- _____ became _____.
- Traditional authorities _____.
- The _____ became _____.
- The _____ became _____.
- The _____ became _____.

We're not called to _____, but to _____ what
God _____.

SACRED Sexuality

Corrupting a Culture

Tim Wilmetti

April 26th, 2026

Numbers 21:1-9

Big Idea: Satan _____ cultures
by _____ them into _____ sin.

- What feels like _____ works like _____.
- Sex isn't merely _____; it is deeply _____.

A Culture Conditioned for Confusion:

- _____ trumped _____.
- Everything became _____.
- We _____ God and _____ went with Him.
- Sex became our _____.
- _____ became _____.
- Traditional authorities _____.
- The _____ became _____.
- The _____ became _____.
- The _____ became _____.

We're not called to _____, but to _____ what
God _____.

Where have you seen sexual sin presented as freedom or pleasure, and what “poison” has it produced in people, families, or culture?

Which part of “A Culture Conditioned for Confusion” do you think has most shaped your own assumptions about sex, identity, morality, or authority?

Why does it matter that sex is physical, but never merely physical? How should that change the way Christians talk about purity, temptation, repentance, and healing?

In what ways can Christians uphold God’s design for sex without trying to force Christian morality on people who have not submitted to Christ?

What would it look like for you personally to move from panic to reclamation—recovering God’s good design for sexuality in your thoughts, habits, relationships, and witness?

Where have you seen sexual sin presented as freedom or pleasure, and what “poison” has it produced in people, families, or culture?

Which part of “A Culture Conditioned for Confusion” do you think has most shaped your own assumptions about sex, identity, morality, or authority?

Why does it matter that sex is physical, but never merely physical? How should that change the way Christians talk about purity, temptation, repentance, and healing?

In what ways can Christians uphold God’s design for sex without trying to force Christian morality on people who have not submitted to Christ?

What would it look like for you personally to move from panic to reclamation—recovering God’s good design for sexuality in your thoughts, habits, relationships, and witness?

