REFLECTION QUESTIONS

When evil seems to prosper around you—whether in politics, culture, or your personal life—how do you usually respond?

Have you ever recognized that some of your suffering was connected to your own sin or disobedience?

Is there anything that makes you feel hopeless today? How does trusting in God's promises restore that hope?

What "business" has God given you to be faithful in right now—even when you feel weary, confused, or discouraged?

How does knowing that God is sovereign shape your view of the future? Does it change how you pray, plan, or face uncertainty?
