

WORD MADE FLESH | Perfect Judge

John 5:19-30

Tim Wilmetti
January 4th, 2026

Big Idea: Jesus became man to _____
_____ on God's _____.

The Judge acts with God's _____, not human
_____. (vv. 19-23)

The Judge offers _____ before
_____. (vv. 24-25)

The Judge possesses _____ in _____ and
_____ over all. (vv. 26-27)

The Judge's _____ will be _____ and
_____. (vv. 28-30)

WORD MADE FLESH | Perfect Judge

John 5:19-30

Tim Wilmetti
January 4th, 2026

Big Idea: Jesus became man to _____
_____ on God's _____.

The Judge acts with God's _____, not human
_____. (vv. 19-23)

The Judge offers _____ before
_____. (vv. 24-25)

The Judge possesses _____ in _____ and
_____ over all. (vv. 26-27)

The Judge's _____ will be _____ and
_____. (vv. 28-30)

WORD MADE FLESH | Discussion Guide

What does it mean for our daily lives that Jesus doesn't act independently from the Father? How should this shape the way we approach Jesus in prayer, worship, or obedience?

In verses 24-25, Jesus speaks about two different timeframes for experiencing resurrection life. What is the significance of being able to experience spiritual life before a future day of accountability? How have you personally experienced this present reality?

Jesus makes an extraordinary claim about possessing something inherently that no other human has (v. 26). Why is this essential to His role, and what would be missing if this weren't true of Him?

How does knowing that Christ's future verdict will be both irreversible and righteous affect the way you live today? Does this reality bring you comfort, urgency, or both?

Throughout this passage, Jesus emphasizes His complete unity with the Father's will and purposes. What are some ways we can cultivate this same kind of alignment with God's will in our own lives, even though we're not divine?

WANT TO DISCUSS THIS MESSAGE WITH OTHERS?

Join a Life Group – pataskalagrace.org/life-groups

WORD MADE FLESH | Discussion Guide

What does it mean for our daily lives that Jesus doesn't act independently from the Father? How should this shape the way we approach Jesus in prayer, worship, or obedience?

In verses 24-25, Jesus speaks about two different timeframes for experiencing resurrection life. What is the significance of being able to experience spiritual life before a future day of accountability? How have you personally experienced this present reality?

Jesus makes an extraordinary claim about possessing something inherently that no other human has (v. 26). Why is this essential to His role, and what would be missing if this weren't true of Him?

How does knowing that Christ's future verdict will be both irreversible and righteous affect the way you live today? Does this reality bring you comfort, urgency, or both?

Throughout this passage, Jesus emphasizes His complete unity with the Father's will and purposes. What are some ways we can cultivate this same kind of alignment with God's will in our own lives, even though we're not divine?

WANT TO DISCUSS THIS MESSAGE WITH OTHERS?

Join a Life Group – pataskalagrace.org/life-groups