LITANY

SECOND WEEK

By: Bishop E. Anne Henning Byfield

LITURGIST: Living between calm and chaos, we hear certain sounds of war and violence as we search for a way out.

CONGREGANTS: Come, Lord Jesus, come; show us the peace of your salvation.

LITURGIST: Living between calm and chaos, we have troubled dreams, painful realities and unbalanced busy-ness.

CONGREGANTS: Come Lord Jesus with the power of balance to quieten the inappropriate noise.

LITURGIST: Living between chaos and calm, we seek for a tomorrow to help us live today.

CONGREGANTS: Come, Jesus come, be the light out of darkness so that we can make our strong Zion stronger.

LITURGIST: With uncertain sounds, troubled dreams, painful realities, death of our young, and working to make our strong Zion stronger, we declare:

CONGREGANT: Come, Lord Jesus, come, bring calm to agitation, peace to violence, response to inactivity, and empowerment so that there is joy in the midst of resistance. We light these candles.

PEACE: THE SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

By: Bishop E. Anne Henning Byfield

READER ONE: We wake up every day in unpeace, broken situations, and social media confusion.

READER TWO: We are facing violence in our communities perpetuated by evil in high places, living between the evil of white supremacy and urban destruction.

READER THREE: Hatred undergirds our thoughts, guns are the defense mechanisms, and daily our families face threats of death.

ALL READERS: In the midst of unpeace, we light the candle of Shalom, for Jesus is the prince of peace. Be not afraid, peace is ever nigh.
